Chambers May Be Petition Candidate For U.S. Senate

BY DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Ernie Chambers may be a petition candidate for the U.S. Senate next year.

Black, articulate and admittedly bitter about American racism and what he considers to be the insensitive treatment of poor people, Chambers this week completed his first session as a member of the Legislature.

He's not exactly proud of being a state senator and may not seek re-election after completion of the 1972 legislative session.

'Show The Politicians'

So he may enter the Senate race, "not expecting to win or trying to win, but to show the politicians of this state that there are people who will rally around and support a man of the people, even if he's been called destructive and radical by certain special interest groups."

Chambers hasn't decided yet whether he will follow that course of attempting to consolidate a respectable statewide minority vote in order to prove his contention that he speaks for more Nebraskans than his legislative colleagues believe, "but I'm going to be considering it."

A decision will come sometime next year, when Ernie Chambers will need to determine whether to seek re-election to the Legislature, enter the Senate contest or leave public office.

'Would Not Run Again'

"If I feel next year the way I feel now, I would not run again" for the Legislature, Chambers said in a lunchtime interview one day before the 1971 session adjourned.

"Politics is neither my life nor my wife."

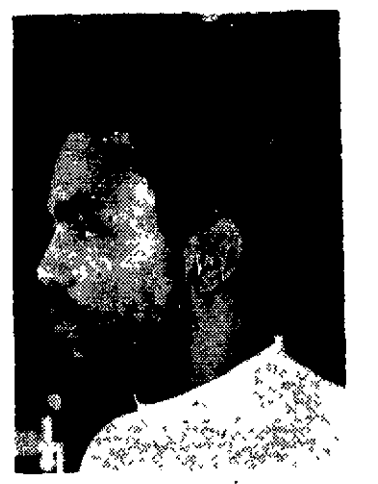
Chambers, 34 this coming July, has not been pleased with his legislative experience and he regrets the amount of time it has taken him away from his four children in Omaha.

"I admit that I have always felt a lot of bitterness about the way we have been treated," he said.

Pettiness, Indifference

"That bitterness has increased. I can see now that a lot of things which would be beneficial to thousands of people are not being done because of legislative pettiness or indifference."

The 1971 Legiislature showed little or no concern for problems of hunger, race, poverty, public health, unemployment or the quality of education, Chambers said.



ERNIE CHAMBERS

Although he will certainly return to Lincoln to complete his abbreviated two-year term in the 1972 Legislature, he said, he does not consider "in a strict sense" that he is working within the system.

"I would say my attitude in the Legislature is more like a criminal investigator gathering evidence which will prove that a crime has been committed against the interests of the people and that there is probable cause to believe it's the Legislature that committed it," Chambers said.

Yet Chambers is not without hope — because of young Americans and their new power to vote.

"If the young people will realize the political power they can now obtain by voting as a bloc, I can see the possibility of making changes in this country through the political process," he said.

Not Enslaved

"The young have not become enslaved by either party yet, nor have they been totally corrupted by the system of exploitation."

They can make a difference, Chambers believes, and he would aim a Senate campaign at them "although I have received mail from older people outstate which indicates they too may be looking for something better in representation than they've been receiving."

Young people, like blacks, face prejudice in America, Chambers said.

"They are presumed to be radical, irresponsible, immoral and destructive just because they're young."

Like A Conscience

The "real cause of antagonism" which has created the so-called generation gap, Chambers believes, is that the young have developed into "something like a conscience which condemns the older people" in America.

If he should enter the Senate race as an independent petition candidate, Chambers said, he would attempt to appeal to voters who want "a voice at the national level speaking strongly and uncompromisingly for justice and equality."

If America cannot become truly a melting pot, "perhaps it could be made into a mixing bowl . . . or deck of cards . . . in which each element can maintain its own individual identity while working in cooperation with other elements for the mutual good of all."

What He Wanted

That's what Chambers wanted before he became a state senator and what he wants now, he said.

The legislative experience hasn't basically altered him.

How has five months as a state senator changed you? he was asked.

"I'm about eight pounds lighter," he replied.

HUMPHREY MAY RUN

. . . Minnesota Senator 'Testing Water'

(c) Washington Star

Washington — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey turned 60 Thursday and said that he was licking his chops about the possibility of another run for the presidency.

The former vice president and 1968 Democratic presidential candidate was in an exuberant mood at a breakfast with newsmen, and made strong statements about entering the 1972 contest.

"I've got the sails up; I'm testing the water," he said. "I'm not salivating but I'm occasionally licking my chops."

The Minnesota senator said he may enter the presidential primaries in California and New York next year if earlier primaries fail to produce a clear front-runner. He added that he does not think such a leader will emerge from the primaries.

Age No Factor

Humphrey said the fact that he is 60 gives him no pause in considering the presidency again. "That's not a factor at all," he said

He said he does not spend much time bemoaning his defeat in 1968.

"I've often thought that what happened in 1968 was the best for everyone concerned. I seriously doubt I could have created my own identity, especially in the early days. The country wanted a change — in style, in personality. They got it and now after four years of the Nixon administration, I think the country is ready to go back to the Democratic Party."

He said that Nixon was highly vulnerable and that the Democrats can win "if we don't cut ourselves up, if we don't engage in fratricidal warfare."

Humphrey said his own decision about running would not be made until around the first of next year.

May Sign Affidavit

He indicated that, if necessary, he would sign an affidavit taking himself out of the Wisconsin primary in April. In Wisconsin, a commission decides who shall go on the ballot. To escape being put on that ballot, Humphrey would have to sign an affidavit saying he is not a candidate and does not intend to become one.

But Humphrey said he would not be bound by that declaration if he wanted to enter later primaries.

Humphrey said he believes that Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts will be "in the running" if the primaries do not produce a clear front-runner.

He also said he believes that Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace will not be a presidential candidate, which he said would help the Democrats.

NETV Commission To Ponder Cutbacks

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

The Nebraska Educational Television Commission next month will consider a host of proposed cutbacks which ETV staff members are recommending to meet a 13% reduction in the 1971-72 operating budget.

The list of proposed reductions was handed to commission members Thursday at the monthly meeting.

The commission was told that although the budget approved by legislators surpasses last year's, expenses related to the new ETV building will eat into those appropriations to the tune of about $300,000.

Heckman Elected

In other matters, Doane College President Philip Heckman was elected new chairman of the commission, replacing Howard Stalnaker, whose term had expired

Lincoln School Supt. John Prasch had been serving as acting chairman.

Joseph Maresh was elected vice chhairman and Prasch was appointed to the executive committee. State ETV General Manager Jack McBride was renamed secretary of the commission.

Commission members were told that 1971-72 operating funds total $1,355,619, compared with $1,201,073 for the current fiscal year.

Reduction In Line

But the $1.35 million will be reduced to $1.05 million after the commission pays a building finance payment, utilities and moving expenses.

PHILIP HECKMAN

Another $3,000 would be spent in refunding subscriptions to "ETViewing," the monthly programming listing which the staff suggested the commission eliminate.

Other proposed reductions include a 13% reduction in the network's broadcast hours, general operation reductions, a cutback in mobile unit operation and a reduction in contractual services.

Proposed for elimination were a batch of other items: technical consultation, translater expansion, tower painting, mobile radios, transmitter buildings and roads improvements, and replacement of several types of equipment.

Programming Cut

McBride told the commission that summer daytime programming has already been cut out, with summer broadcast hours scheduled for 4 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. daily.

McBride also reported that an Omaha group known as the Black Information-Education Association had challenged the license renewals for all but one of the Omaha radio and television stations, including ETV Channel 26.

He said meetings have been held with members of the group, which has complained to the Federal Communications Commission and is seeking more minority group employes and more programming directed specifically to minority audiences.

McBride noted the state network has expanded minority-oriented programming over the past few years. The commission recently adopted a policy of informing minority groups when job openings occur, he added.

3 More Bodies Dug Up In Rainswept Orchards

Yuba City, Calif. (AP) — Three more bodies were unearthed, by officers in the orchard north of Yuba City on Thursday, increasing to 15 the number of itinerant farm workers discovered hacked to death with machetes or similar weapons.

Sheriff Roy D. Whiteaker and the coroner sped away from the last gravesite along the Feather River without comment, but later confirmed the discovery.

Officers remained in the area and were believed to be looking for still more bodies in the rain.

"We'll just keep looking and keep digging," Whiteaker said.

The latest victims appeared to be white males, as were the first 12.

Stabbed And Hacked

The men had been stabbed and hacked to death with a machete or heavy knife and buried in scattered graves north of Yuba City in Northern California.

Meanwhile, Sutter County records showed that the man charged with 10 of the murders, Juan V. Corona, 37, a farm labor recruiter for 15 years, spent three months in a state hospital for the mentally ill in 1956.

Corona was committed to DeWitt State Hospital at the request of his brother, Natividad Corona, and two doctors. The order said Corona was potentially dangerous to himself and others and needed "treatment, care or restraint."

He was "released as recovered" April 18, 1956, in an order signed by D. G. Tipton, then director of the state hospital.

Officers arrested Corona at his $22,000 home in Yuba City early Wednesday without explaining what led them to him. He is a husky man, 5 feet 11, the father of four young daughters. He speaks little English. His family was in seclusion.

Supporters Of Drive To End The War Planning A Massive Lobbying Effort

Washington (AP) — Supporters of the drive to end U.S. operations in Indochina at the end of 1971 announced plans Thursday for a massive lobbying effort including nationwide radio ads to influence senators before the expected mid-June vote.

But the fight for the McGovern-Hatfield amendment rejected 55 to 39 by the Senate a year ago, appeared once again to be an uphill battle.

Aides to Sens. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., put their present strength at about last year's level and said they are "encouraged" about chances for victory.

26 Sponsors

The measure has 26 sponsors and likely backing from 11 other senators who voted for it a year ago. An aide to McGovern said three other senators have pledged support.

Even if it passes the Senate, however, it faces almost certain rejection by the House, or a presidential veto. Even sponsors say there is no chance for the two-thirds vote that would be needed to override a veto.

The amendment is to be offered to the pending draft bill after next Friday's vote on an effort to limit draft extension to one year.

The lobbying effort, called Lobby of Americans, is being organized by two groups, The Committee for Peace and New Priorities, which includes a number of labor leaders; and the National Council for an Indochina Deadline created by former government officials such as ex-Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford and former Ambassador to Japan Edwin Reischauer.

Meetings Slated

Their main efforts will be focused in the June 7-11 period during which groups of lawyers, businessmen, religious organizations, labor unions and others will come to Washington at their own expense to hold meetings and meet with senators they think are open to persuasion.

"We are not interested in a massive outpouring of Americans," said Charles L. Fishman, a former Howard University law professor who is executive director of the Committee for Peace and New Priorities. He said emphasis is on "people who can have an impact on congressmen and senators."

Gordon Weil, executive assistant to Sen. McGovern, said the bulk of the $126,000 left from $480,000 raised last year by the Committee to End the War will be used on a two-week campaign of newspaper ads and "imaginative" radio spots.

Another $25,000 is going to the National Council for an Indochina Deadline, largely to put on a rally during the week of activity in Washingon.

The exact timing of the offering of the amendment is uncertain. Wes Micpaelson, executive assistant to Hatfield said he hopes for "a period of good debate," defined as perhaps one or two weeks.

Soviet, Egyptian Heads Sign 15-Year Treaty

Moscow (AP) — President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat signed a 15-year-treaty in Cairo Thursday pledging the Soviet Union to continue its military help to Egypt "to stand up to aggression," the Soviet news agency Tass announced.

The text of the document was issued by Tass as Podgorny ended three days of talks with Sadat.

The Soviet president flew to Cairo Tuesday following a governmental purge by Sadat that ousted a number of pro-Soviet officials, including Vice President Ali Sabry.

The 12-article treaty said the pact "shall come into force on the day of exchange of ratification instruments, which will take place in Moscow in the nearest future."

The document said:

"In the interests of strengthening the defense capacity of the United Arab Republic, the high contracting parties will continue to develop cooperation in the military field on the basis of appropriate agreements between them.

"Such cooperation will provide specifically for assistance in the training of the U.A.R. military personnel, in mastering the armaments and equipment supplied to the United Arab Republic with a view to strengthening its capacity to eliminate the consequences of aggression as well as increasing its ability to stand up to aggression in general."

The treaty included various articles on friendship and cooperation in political, economic, scientific, technological and other fields.

Seale Is Granted Bail

Chicago (UPI) — The U.S. Court of Appeals Thursday granted an appeal bond for Black Panther Party Chairman Bobby G. Seale on his contempt of court charges stemming from the 1969 Chicago Seven riot-conspiracy trial.

In a two page order, Appeals Judges Luther M. Swygert and Thomas E. Fairchild ordered bond set for Seale at $25,000. He must put up 10% of the amount before he is freed.

Seale has been confined at Montville Correctional Center, Conn., pending the appeal bond hearing. His backers were expected to post bail immediately.

When they do, it will be Seale's first time out of jail since 1969. He has spent almost two years in various prisons across the country since Aug. 19, 1969.

The court ordered that Seale be required to notify U.S. Marshal John C. Meizner of his destination each time he travels.

Ex-President Of Salem Bank Pleads Innocent To 2 Counts

Falls City (AP) — John Allee, 29-year-old former president of the Bank of Salem, pleaded innocent Thursday to two counts of embezzlement.

District Judge William Colwell set Sept. 22 for the trial.

The bank was ordered closed in April by the State Department of Banking, which said it discovered irregularities in the bank's operations.

The complaint to which Allee entered a plea Thursday dropped one of three charges and amended the other two.

Allee is charged with embezzlement of more then $5,000 and with embezzlement of $1,000. His bond of $5,000 was continued.

"We are not interested in a massive outpouring of Americans," said Charles L. Fishman, a former Howard University law professor who is executive director of the Committee for Peace and New Priorities. He said emphasis is on "people who can have an impact on congressmen and senators."

Gordon Weil, executive assistant to Sen. McGovern, said the bulk of the $126,000 left from $480,000 raised last year by the Committee to End the War will be used on a two-week campaign of newspaper ads and "imaginative" radio spots.

Another $25,000 is going to the National Council for an Indochina Deadline, largely to put on a rally during the week of activity in Washingon.

The exact timing of the offering of the amendment is uncertain. Wes Micpaelson, executive assistant to Hatfield said he hopes for "a period of good debate," defined as perhaps one or two weeks.

Ex-President Of Salem Bank Pleads Innocent To 2 Counts

Falls City (AP) — John Allee, 29-year-old former president of the Bank of Salem, pleaded innocent Thursday to two counts of embezzlement.

District Judge William Colwell set Sept. 22 for the trial.

The bank was ordered closed in April by the State Department of Banking, which said it discovered irregularities in the bank's operations.

The complaint to which Allee entered a plea Thursday dropped one of three charges and amended the other two.

Allee is charged with embezzlement of more then $5,000 and with embezzlement of $1,000. His bond of $5,000 was continued.

South Vietnamese Report Attack On Snuol Repelled

World News

Saigon (AP) — A surge of heavy fighting in eastern Cambodia was reported Thursday and South Vietnamese forces said they repelled a North Vietnamese invasion of the town of Snuol and four attacks in its environs.

A Saigon military spokesman conceded that small pockets of North Vietnamese troops may still be inside Snuol after savage fighting Wednesday and Thursday, but added that the battle for control of the rubber plantation town was ended.

The spokesman, Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, said. "It is possible that there are still some small groups of enemy in Snuol, but the fighting is now over."

New Air Blows

Even as major ground fighting shifted to eastern Cambodia — the heaviest there in three months — U.S. warplanes dealt new air blows to the North Vietnamese just below the demilitarized zone on the northern frontier of South Vietnam.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces also reported killing 80 enemy troops in four clashes in the northern quarter of South Vietnam on Wednesday. U.S. casualties were not given, but field reports said 5 South Vietnamese troops were killed and 33 wounded in the fighting.

In two raids Thursday, giant B52 Stratoforts dropped 180 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese positions only one mile southeast of the DMZ, hitting at suspected troop concentrations, bunker complexes and antiaircraft sites.

The target area was close to the spot where B52s scored hits in a raid Tuesday. South Vietnamese infantrymen sweeping the area afterward, reported finding 60 dead North Vietnamese and uncovering large amounts of arms and ammunition. The munitions included 120 rounds of 140 mm rockets, about 1,000 bangalore torpedoes and another 1,000 recoilless rifle rounds.

55 Reds Said Slain

In the Snuol fighting, South Vietnamese headquarters said 55 North Vietnamese were killed. The Cambodian command in Phnom Penh said its forces killed 14 enemy troops in a six-hour battle outside the village of Prey Chek, 70 miles southeast of the capital in the Parrot's Beak section of the country.

Initial reports, probably incomplete, listed 4 South Vietnamese soldiers killed and 12 wounded in two ground attacks near Snuol.

Saigon headquarters did not divulge its casualties from three mortar and rocket attacks, one of them a 200-round mortar bombardment.

The U.S. Command said rocket-firing American gunships flew nearly 300 missions Wednesday in eastern Cambodia in support of South Vietnamese ground troops. Some of the missions were in the Snuol area.

In addition to the helicopter gunships, U.S. tactical fighter-bombers supported the South Vietnamese with 30 strikes in eastern Cambodia Wednesday.

On Highway

Snuol is on Highway 7, one of the main arteries leading from Cambodia to Saigon and the southern half of South Vietnam.

Eight South Vietnamese task forces totaling 18,000 to 30,000 men are deployed along Highway 7 and two other major routes, Highways 1 and 15.

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh, commander of South Vietnamese forces in Cambodia, said his objective in holding the highways is to block North Vietnamese infiltration into Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces, the heartland of South Vietnam.

In Saigon the U.S. Command reported 38 Americans died in combat last week, the highest figure in three weeks. The number did not include all of the 30 men killed last Friday in three North Vietnamese shelling attacks in the northern sector of South Vietnam.

The command also reported 92 Americans were wounded last week, the lowest figure since early January when 83 were wounded in one week.

45,183 Americans

The latest casualties raised to 45,183 the number of Americans killed in the Indochina war and the total wounded to 299,434.

South Vietnamese headquarters announced 476 government troops were killed and 1,015 were wounded last week.

Relatives Of Missing GIs Watch Delegates Arrive

Paris (AP) — More than 150 Americans with family members missing in Indochina watched in grim silence Thursday as American, South Vietnamese and Communist delegates arrived for the 114th weekly session of the Vietnam peace talks.

The four-hour session produced no change in the long-standing deadlock, but South Vietnam formally placed on the conference record its proposed arrangements for releasing 570 sick and injured North Vietnamese prisoners in Tonkin Gulf on June 4.

American negotiators hope that Hanoi's acceptance of the prisoners may foreshadow a relaxation of its hitherto rigid attitude on the American prisoners held in Communist-controlled areas.

North Vietnamese chief negotiator Xuan Thuy came in and out of the conference center with his usual inscrutable smile and seemed not to notice the Americans massed behind police barriers on the opposite side of the street.

In his speech to the meeting, Thuy left no doubt that Hanoi intends to reject all American proposals on release or better conditions for the hundreds of U.S. prisoners until the United States has set a date for complete and unconditional withdrawal from South Vietnam.

U.S. negotiator David K. E. Bruce is conferring on the talks in Washington and was replaced at Thursday's session by his deputy. Philip Habib.

Habib vigorously denounced Hanoi for its "deplorable behavior" toward its American prisoners. He said the United States would continue to bring the matter up at the peace talks until "such time as you take the necessary measures."

The American relatives arrived in Paris from Geneva Wednesday night. They watched in silence as the delegations went in and out of the building. At times they were outnumbered by French riot police lining the street two feet apart.

Helene Knapp of Colorado Springs, Colo., said they were the largest group of prisoners' relatives ever to appear at a session of the peace talks.

"We knew they were discussing the prisoner question today." she said, "and we wanted to show our very deep concern."

Mrs. Knapp's husband, Col. Herman Knapp, has been missing since April 1967.

Advisory Committee Report Says FDA Beset By Scientific Problems

Washington (AP) — An advisory committee of university scientists said Thursday the Food and Drug Administration is beset by serious scientific problems that undermine effective consumer protection.

"There is no doubt that the agency is currently burdened with managerial and communication problems which are long-standing and widespread," the five-man panel concluded after a one-year investigation of the FDA. The study was commissioned by the agency's chief, Dr. Charles C. Edwards.

"It currently faces enormous responsibilities for consumer protection and the public health but with limited resources, constricted perspective and little solid constituency in the public or medical and scientific establishments," said the committee, headed by Dr. Roy E. Ritts, a professor of microbiology and immunology at the University of Minnesota and the Mayo Foundation.

The panel's 56-page report focused on the FDA's scientific activities rather than enforcement and legal functions.

It reported finding instances of demoralized and unproductive scientists; ill-equipped and overworked laboratories; lack of long-range planning, and political interference in scientific activities; stagnant middle-level scientific managers; "serious deficiencies" in outside research contracts; and a "serious aura of secrecy" among FDA scientists and their isolation from the nongovernment scientific community.

But the committee said also that FDA scientists do an "extraordinary job in many ways" and the agency is moving to correct some scientific deficiencies.

FDA Commissioner Edwards described the Ritts report as a sound and helpful blueprint for changes he has made or intends to make.

The committee said it also found a "lack of consistency and departures from excellence" in clearance procedures for new drugs.

Mariner Launch Is Rescheduled

Washington (AP) — The space agency rescheduled Thursday its planned Mariner spacecraft launch toward Mars for Saturday at 5:21 p.m. CDT.

If there is reason for a further postponement the launch can be delayed until June 4 and still attain its objective of a Mars orbit by Nov. 14, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said.

4 More Soviet Jews Sent To Jail

The New York Times

Moscow — The Latvian S.S.R. Supreme Court Thursday found four Riga Jews guilty of anti-Soviet activity and sentenced them to terms ranging from one to three years in prison camps.

In a separate development, it was learned that Simas Kudirka, the Lithuanian seaman who was returned to Soviet authorities after jumping aboard a U.S. Coast Guard cutter and seeking political sanctuary, was sentenced last week by the Lithuanian Supreme Court to 10 years on treason charges.

Tass, the Soviet press agency, said the four-day Riga trial ended when Judge Luka I. Lotko read the sentences.

Arkady A. Shpilberg, a 33-year-old engineer, received three years, one less than asked by the prosecutor, Dmitry F. Chibisov. The others received what he had demanded: Mikhail Z Shepshelovich, a 28-year-old worker, got two years; Boris M. Maftser, 24, an engineer, and Ruth I. Aleksandrovich, a 23-year-old nurse, both got one-year terms.

The sentences given the Riga Four were milder than those handed out in the Leningrad trials last winter and earlier this month, in which some defendants received as many as 15 years in camps — the maximum term of detention under Soviet law.

This was presumably because the Riga Four were not charged with either participating or assisting in plans to hijack a plane. In the Leningrad trials, 21 people — 19 of them Jews — were convicted in connection with an apparent plan by 12 to hijack a plane last June.

Nine other Jews are awaiting trial in Kishinev on charges believed similar to those brought against the Riga Four. The four in Riga were charged with reprinting and distributing "subversive" and "slanderous" material about the Soviet state, a crime punishable by up to seven years.

The exact nature of the material has not been disclosed, but presumably it covers petitions sent abroad complaining of Soviet policy toward Jews not wishing to assimilate, and typewritten material on various aspects of Jewish life here.

U.S. Says Soviet Court Tramples Human Rights

Washington (UPI) — The United States said Thursday a Soviet court that sentenced four Jews to prison was guilty of "deprivations of fundamental human rights . . . that should not be in question anywhere in the second half of the 20th century."

In response to the sentencing, the State Department issued one of the strongest statements, it has ever made concerning internal affairs of another country where American citizens were not directly concerned.

The department charged that the Riga trials, as well as recent trials of a number of Jews at Leningrad on airplane hijacking plot charges, were "abhorrent on three grounds":

—Denial of the right to an open trial.

—Persecution of people for their beliefs.

—Denial of the right of people to freely leave any country and to travel or reside abroad in a country of their choice.

Extra Federal Help Favored

. . . For Meat Inspection

Nebraska News

Washington (AP) — The president of the Nebraska Farmers Union, Elton Berck, has told a Senate agriculture subcommittee that he favors the federal government picking up 80% of the cost of inspecting meat.

It would be a demonstration of revenue sharing for the Department of Agriculture to pay 80%, rather than the current 50%, Berck said in testimony.

He told the committee that without the extra federal support, Nebraska and other states will have to turn over their total meat inspection facilities to federal officials.

If this happens, he noted, the federal government will be paying 100% of the costs.

'Only Way'

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said shifting the costs of the meat inspection program is the only way to save state programs in many areas and would, in the long run, save federal dollars.

The Wholesale Meat Inspection Act of 1967 provided that if a state did not conduct its own meat inspection program, the federal government would take over all inspection.

"Most states are faced with financial and budget problems," Curtis said. "This may cause them to unwillingly discontinue their meat inspection programs and turn the entire burden over to the federal government."

But if the federal people, paid more, say, 80%, the states would continue to carry on their own programs which Curtis said usually are operated less expensively than federal programs.

Whoever does the job, federal standards are the guideline. Curtis said.

Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., said it was hard for him to believe the states would have any incentive to pay any part of the costs if they thought the federal government would do it instead.

Allen, the subcommittee chairman, asked Berck what would motivate the states to keep on paying for the program. Berck said he thought his state, at least, felt it had a moral obligation to bear part of the cost of a program that proves beneficial.

Near 175 Involved In Melee Between Strikers, Workers

Schuyler (AP) — A few fist fights erupted in downtown Schuyler Wednesday night during what Sheriff Richard Kruse described as a series of arguments between strikers and working employes of the Spencer Foods Co. slaughter plant.

There were a few minor injuries, the sheriff said, but none of the victims required hospitalization. He said one man suffered scratches when he went through a store window.

The melee occurred near offices of the local of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, which held a meeting Wednesday night.

Kruse said "about 100" union members from Spencer, Iowa — location of another of the firm's struck plants — came to town for the meeting, but some of them had departed when the arguments started on downtown streets.

In all, Kruse said, some 175 persons were involved. Members of Kruse's department, city police and state troopers had "not too much trouble" in breaking up the disturbance, the sheriff said.

A rock was thrown through a window in a Schuyler house during the disturbance, Kruse said.

The sheriff said no weapons were used by participants in the incident.

The town was quiet shortly after midnight, Kruse said. No arrests were made.

Members of the union struck the plant May 4. Other Spencer Foods facilities in Iowa and South Dakota have been closed down by strikes, but operations have continued here by use of management personnel and newly-hired employes in production work.

Most of the activities will be Saturday and Sunday, including a hobby show which is scheduled both days at Indian Creek Mall. A carnival has also been set up at that location.

A downtown parade is billed at 2 p.m. Saturday and a horse shoe pitching tournament begins Sunday morning.

A 14-year-old Lincoln youth was listed in "good" condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital as the result of a car-bicycle accident at 59th and Aylesworth Thursday afternoon, according to police reports.

Police said Kevin Grove of 1800 No. 57th suffered a concussion when the bicycle he was riding was in collision with the left door of a car driven by Ronald Anderson, 17, of 3460 No. 53rd. Rick Jensen, 13, of 1931 No. 57th, who was riding another bicycle along with Grove also struck the car but sustained only minor scratches.

The Anderson vehicle was southbound on 59th and the two boys were westbound on Aylesworth at the time of the accident, police said.

Lincoln Man Not Seriously Injured In Traffic Mishap

A Lincoln man escaped serious injury Thursday night when the car he was driving was in collision with a semi at 70th and Pioneers, according to Deputy Sheriff Gay Grosshans.

Grosshans said Robert Lantz. 39, of 532 Meredeth, was taken to St. Elizabeth Health Center with a broken ankle after his car struck the rear of the semitrailer driven by Richard Runge, 29, of 6025 Colfax. Runge told the deputies that in his rear view mirror he saw the Lantz vehicle spin around at least three times.

The Lantz car was westbound on Pioneers and the Runge vehicle was northbound on 70th at the time of the accident.

Terry Still Pondering Senate Race

Scottsbluff (AP) — State Sen. Terry Carpenter added spark Thursday to recurrent reports that he may seek the Democratic nomination to challenge Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., next year.

In a telephone interview with KLNG Radio in Omaha, Carpenter said, "I haven't made up my mind, I wouldn't want to give you that impression."

Asked what would prevent him from challenging Curtis, Carpenter said, "Just two things, if I filed and wasn't nominated."

He said, "I have no criticism of Mr. Curtis in any way, manner, shape or form. If I should run I would never say anything disrespectful of him or anyone else. Neither would I appear on the same platform with Sen. Curtis because I don't think that people are interested in what I think of him or he thinks of me."

Carpenter said that "if I do run, I'll run as a Democrat . . . and Omaha Sen. Eugene Mahoney would be a very substantial part of it. He's demonstrated time and time again that if you're going to carry Douglas County you better have him in your corner."

Southern Corn Leaf Blight Survives Nebraska's Winter

By United Press International

The University of Nebraska College of Agriculture confirmed southern corn leaf blight has remained alive in Nebraska over the winter.

Dr. Michael Boosalis, chairman of the college's Department of Plant Pathology, said reports earlier this week of the blight's presence in Illinois touched off a Nebraska investigation.

The results of the investigation, he said, are that the fungus has "overwintered successfully" in the state. It remained alive specifically on corn debris, he added.

This source, Boosalis said, is capable of infecting live volunteer or planted corn seedlings.

However, while no confirmed outbreak of the fungus has been located, the "possibility of finding infection soon is very high," due to the hold over from last year, he said.

Farmers who have already planted corn are advised to observe merging seedlings, both volunteer and from the seeded crop, for indications of the fungus and then report any findings to county extension agents immediately, the researcher said.

In addition, four suggested steps were issued to farmers who have not yet planted corn. They include:

—Destroy and/or cover volunteer corn by disking before planting.

—Or list deeper or use furrow openers to cover volunteer corn.

—Do not plant seed corn deeper than normal (1½ inches).

—Plant other crops in place of corn, soybeans and/or sorghum.

Fremont Man Is Held In Death Of Faeller, 26

Fremont (AP) — Lester Lee Barrett, 39-year-old Fremont truck driver, was held without charge in the Dodge County jail Thursday in connection with the fatal shooting Wednesday night of Sam A. Faeller, 26, father of three.

Police said the shooting occurred in a Fremont truck repair garage about 9:20 p.m. and they learned of it through a telephone call a short time later. Barrett was arrested at the scene.

Dodge County Attorney Gordon Gobel said Barrett has asked the court to appoint an attorney for him.

Gobel said there may be some witnesses and when asked about a rumor a third person might have been involved in the incident, he said "I don't know for sure; there is something to that effect."

He said Faeller had one bullet wound, apparently made by a pistol. An autopsy is scheduled.

Faeller was a self-employed trucker who had lived in Fremont about a year, coming from Belle Fourche, S.D.

Exon Tours Swollen Platte

Scottsbluff (AP) — Gov. J. J. Exon made an inspection trip of the Scottsbluff and Bridgeport areas along the swollen North Platte River Thursday, then asked for a detailed report on the situation in the area.

At a Scottsbluff meeting, the governor told local officials state emergency funds are available for flood damage, but the money covers only public property.

However, he said, if an area is hit hard enough by flood waters he will ask the President to declare a disaster area.

Col. Burl Johnson the state Civil Defense director, said some of the rural areas possibly have suffered sufficient damage already to ask the U.S. Department of Agriculture for disaster designation. Farm and grazing lands have been affected mainly.

Bids were taken by the Army Engineers Thursday for construction of dikes along the river at Scottsbluff and Bridgeport. Figures were not disclosed. The apparent low bidders were Perry Construction Co. of Yankton, S.D., for the work at Bridgeport and the Simons Construction Co. of Scottsbluff for the Scottsbluff work.

Construction of the three-feet-high-dikes is to begin as soon as legal arrangements are made with the municipalities.

Extra Federal Help Favored

Near 175 Involved In Melee Between Strikers, Workers

Schuyler (AP) — A few fist fights erupted in downtown Schuyler Wednesday night during what Sheriff Richard Kruse described as a series of arguments between strikers and working employes of the Spencer Foods Co. slaughter plant.

There were a few minor injuries, the sheriff said, but none of the victims required hospitalization. He said one man suffered scratches when he went through a store window.

The melee occurred near offices of the local of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, which held a meeting Wednesday night.

Kruse said "about 100" union members from Spencer, Iowa — location of another of the firm's struck plants — came to town for the meeting, but some of them had departed when the arguments started on downtown streets.

In all, Kruse said, some 175 persons were involved. Members of Kruse's department, city police and state troopers had "not too much trouble" in breaking up the disturbance, the sheriff said.

A rock was thrown through a window in a Schuyler house during the disturbance, Kruse said.

The sheriff said no weapons were used by participants in the incident.

The town was quiet shortly after midnight, Kruse said. No arrests were made.

Members of the union struck the plant May 4. Other Spencer Foods facilities in Iowa and South Dakota have been closed down by strikes, but operations have continued here by use of management personnel and newly-hired employes in production work.

Southern Corn Leaf Blight Survives Nebraska's Winter

By United Press International

The University of Nebraska College of Agriculture confirmed southern corn leaf blight has remained alive in Nebraska over the winter.

Dr. Michael Boosalis, chairman of the college's Department of Plant Pathology, said reports earlier this week of the blight's presence in Illinois touched off a Nebraska investigation.

The results of the investigation, he said, are that the fungus has "overwintered successfully" in the state. It remained alive specifically on corn debris, he added.

This source, Boosalis said, is capable of infecting live volunteer or planted corn seedlings.

However, while no confirmed outbreak of the fungus has been located, the "possibility of finding infection soon is very high," due to the hold over from last year, he said.

Farmers who have already planted corn are advised to observe merging seedlings, both volunteer and from the seeded crop, for indications of the fungus and then report any findings to county extension agents immediately, the researcher said.

In addition, four suggested steps were issued to farmers who have not yet planted corn. They include:

—Destroy and/or cover volunteer corn by disking before planting.

—Or list deeper or use furrow openers to cover volunteer corn.

—Do not plant seed corn deeper than normal (1½ inches).

—Plant other crops in place of corn, soybeans and/or sorghum.

Fremont Man Is Held In Death Of Faeller, 26

Fremont (AP) — Lester Lee Barrett, 39-year-old Fremont truck driver, was held without charge in the Dodge County jail Thursday in connection with the fatal shooting Wednesday night of Sam A. Faeller, 26, father of three.

Police said the shooting occurred in a Fremont truck repair garage about 9:20 p.m. and they learned of it through a telephone call a short time later. Barrett was arrested at the scene.

Dodge County Attorney Gordon Gobel said Barrett has asked the court to appoint an attorney for him.

Gobel said there may be some witnesses and when asked about a rumor a third person might have been involved in the incident, he said "I don't know for sure; there is something to that effect."

He said Faeller had one bullet wound, apparently made by a pistol. An autopsy is scheduled.

Faeller was a self-employed trucker who had lived in Fremont about a year, coming from Belle Fourche, S.D.

Exon Tours Swollen Platte

Scottsbluff (AP) — Gov. J. J. Exon made an inspection trip of the Scottsbluff and Bridgeport areas along the swollen North Platte River Thursday, then asked for a detailed report on the situation in the area.

At a Scottsbluff meeting, the governor told local officials state emergency funds are available for flood damage, but the money covers only public property.

However, he said, if an area is hit hard enough by flood waters he will ask the President to declare a disaster area.

Col. Burl Johnson the state Civil Defense director, said some of the rural areas possibly have suffered sufficient damage already to ask the U.S. Department of Agriculture for disaster designation. Farm and grazing lands have been affected mainly.

Bids were taken by the Army Engineers Thursday for construction of dikes along the river at Scottsbluff and Bridgeport. Figures were not disclosed. The apparent low bidders were Perry Construction Co. of Yankton, S.D., for the work at Bridgeport and the Simons Construction Co. of Scottsbluff for the Scottsbluff work.

Construction of the three-feet-high-dikes is to begin as soon as legal arrangements are made with the municipalities.

What of state government, now that senators have concluded their work of the 1971 session and stand adjourned until the 60 days of action in 1972 roll around? There are a substantial number of important bills that were passed by this Legislature, many with the backing of Gov. J. James Exon and some on which he was not too keen.

Generally speaking, the record is one that must be shared between the Legislature and the governor, with some specific exceptions here and there. Taxes, once again, emerged as the focal point of all legislative deliberations but not so much in the same form as they have in the past.

Rather than the kind of taxes, this session was more concerned with the level of taxes. There were exceptions here, too, in the form of details of the sales and income tax and in the proposal to eliminate the personal property tax on farm and business inventories and equipment.

In all these areas of exceptions, the governor had by far the preferred position with his veto of the personal property tax exemption. his unfailing effort to eliminate the sales tax on food and his unsuccessful effort to hike the corporate income tax.

The governor clearly stood for some tax reforms that had merit, that would have provided considerable tax equality, but state senators were dancing to another tune. It was the tune played by big-monied, special interest groups who wanted to keep the tax sanctuaries they had and even add to them.

As to the level of taxes, both the governor and the Legislature are in the same boat. Governor Exon committed himself to the existing 2½ per cent sales and 13 per cent income tax and the Legislature has ended up at precisely that point.

State spending as proposed by the governor and enacted by the Legislature differs some in detail but remains very close in fundamentals. You have to credit the governor for much of this since he created the climate of fiscal conservatism which ultimately prevailed.

It would be surprising if the governor did not, at this time, enjoy a high degree of popularity among voters of the state. Holding the tax line is a promise often made but seldom kept but Exon managed both the promise and the performance.

Very few voters are likely to complain when their taxes are maintained at existing levels. While we believe that Exon and the Legislature accomplished many constructive things in these first five months of the year, there is cause for concern for the future welfare of the state.

The most serious consequence of the governor's hold-the-line policy on spending will be felt at the University of Nebraska Lincoln campus. The Lincoln campus, this year, began to pay the penalty for the state's assumption of responsibility for the Omaha campus operation.

The millions that have had to be appropriated for the Omaha operation tightened state pursestrings and that campus fared much better even this year than did the Lincoln operation.

The consequences of this may well be felt for a long time in the future in terms of the availability of higher education to all the young people of Nebraska and in terms of the quality of education offered those who do partake of the program.

The physical plant of the Lincoln campus is losing ground and nothing was done to reverse this through 1971 legislative appropriations. Not a single program on the Lincoln campus can be strengthened nor can any new areas be entered with the funds voted for the institution in 1971.

At the same time, tuition costs to all students, especially out-of-state students, will be hiked. We think this is alarming because of the significant role that higher educaion has to play in the future welfare of society.

This is the one area of major disagreement we have with the governor and the Legislature. We sincerely hope that in the future, the cause of higher education comes to occupy in the minds of senators and the governor a much more distinctive place than it has to date in the light of cold economic facts.

NATO's General Meeting Will Center On Troop Cut

LONDON — The mood in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has swung to detente again. The agenda for the general meeting of NATO foreign ministers in Lisbon, Portugal, June 3-4, will focus on the merits of a European Security Conference being pushed by the Russians and on mutual force reduction. Coming after the U.S. Senate's May 19 rejection of Sen. Mike Mansfield's amendment to cut by half the number of American troops in Europe, as well as Soviet party leader Leonid Brezhnev's May 14 call for negotiations on the mutual reduction of troops, this meeting will actively pursue the prospects for a "draw-down."

Although the Nixon administration seemed agitated by Sen. Mansfield's proposal for bringing home half of the 310,000 U.S. troops, many Europeans seemed remarkably undisturbed. The truth is that Europe has become thoroughly acclimatized to the idea of an American callback. The Guardian remarked editorially. "People in Britain and Western Europe ought to be more worried than they are about the American mood."

☆ ☆ ☆

NATO has been split over the past year on the call for a European Security Conference. Those governments directly involved in negotiations with the Russians—such as West Germany and the United States—are wary of the idea.

There is irony in the possibility that Brezhnev may have timed his proposal for mutual troop reductions in order to make certain Sen. Mansfield's proposal was defeated by the Senate. Any unilateral American withdrawal of troops would put pressure on the Soviets to do the same in Eastern Europe. Red Army commanders may oppose pulling their 285,500 troops out of satellite countries, and calling for a conference would be the easiest way to stall for time.

It is generally agreed that the existing American forces are not sufficient to repulse a determined Soviet offensive in Europe. Thus NATO's conventional forces would be incapable of preventing an armed conflict from quickly turning into a nuclear war. That is why President Nixon said in his message to the last NATO ministerial meeting that, "We have agreed that NATO's conventional forces must not only be maintained, but in certain key areas, strengthened."

Europeans refuse to bear more of the cost of a force which is designed for their own reassurance, notes the Economist.

While the European members of NATO agreed last December to spend an extra $1 billion to improve both forces and facilities over the next five years, the United States still contributes 25 per cent of NATO's continental capability. The U.S. spends about $14 billion a year to maintain defense forces in Europe.

It is unlikely that Europeans will meet the challenge of NATO's ground-force inferiority in Central Europe head-on. Instead, the NATO ministers can be expected to obliquely invite the Warsaw Pact to discuss mutual troop reductions. Meanwhile, the English decline to become excited by the prospect of a possible withdrawal of a couple of American divisions.

McCarthy Looks Ahead

Former Sen. Eugene McCarthy admitted in an interview this week that he was "pretty scarred up" from his unsuccessful fight for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1968 and the criticism he took from erstwhile supporters when he failed to warm to the party's eventual nominee.

But he left room for speculation that he might again take to the campaign trail, this time officially bolting the Democratic stable, to seek the presidency.

In an earlier speech at a bipartisan "Dump Nixon" rally organized by the giant-killer, former Rep. Allard K. Lowenstein of New York, McCarthy said he hoped insurgents in both the Democratic and Republican parties would succeed in nominating candidates committed to ending the war, reforming American politics and reordering priorities. "If we cannot," he said, "then let us have a new party, and a new policy and a true America."

The trouble with McCarthy, and the reason he has such appeal to single-minded people, is that he refuses to deal with politics on any but his own terms. Certainly unable to accept the present administration and the renomination of President Nixon, McCarthy likewise can find glaring faults in any conceivable Democratic candidate or quasi-candidate. He talks about the possibilities of John Lindsay or John Gardner or Mark Hatfield leading a third party movement, but, early as it is for commitments, one still gets the feeling that McCarthy would feel far more comfortable with the third party army behind him.

Lowenstein reportedly was irritated after McCarthy's mention of a third party. "I want us to elect a new president, not start a new protest movement," he said. Practical Lowenstein is and practical McCarthy is not. He may want to assume a posture as the conscience of the nation, but in so doing in his own blinded manner, he is not serving his ideals.

Educational Process Enhanced

One has the feeling that the process involved with the Board of Education's dismissal of a junior high school mathematics teacher has been a generally constructive thing. It is doubtful that the teacher involved, Robert L. Johnson, shares this feeling but this is to be expected.

The basic issue seemed to be whether Johnson lived up to all the more intangible aspects of his profession. That he is a qualified teacher, there is no doubt but the feeling of the board was that he was doing an inadequate job in his classroom teaching.

This came down to an unusual number of failing students in one class and frequent student and parent dissatisfaction with Johnson. Obviously at issue was something beyond the technical requirements of his job. When too many students have problems with a teacher, that teacher should begin to ask himself if he is not, somehow, failing in his obligations.

Johnson himself conceded that he is a demanding teacher and that he does "not coddle students." The board apparently feels he leans too far in this direction while he feels his approach is a proper and constructive one.

The case has had a full and open hearing, a credit to the system and a credit to Johnson. The adversaries in this case, if that is what they might be termed, have had their so-called day in court.

Such a procedure, it seems, is nothing to be feared nor any discredit upon anyone. It is a matter of differing points of view and differing responsibilities, and people and institutions meeting a challenge in a mutual concern for the ultimate welfare of others is something that never needs to be avoided.

Power Battle In Egypt To Be Long Drawn Out; President Sadat Emerges Victor Of First Round

WASHINGTON — For the time being, the U.S. government is visibly pleased and the Soviet government is obviously troubled by the political upheaval in Cairo and the emergence of President Anwar El-Sadat as the dominant figure in Egypt, but the struggle for power there is far from over.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers established a good personal relationship with Sadat during his recent Middle Eastern trip, and would clearly like to see a quick interim settlement of the Suez Canal question which would strengthen Sadat's internal position, but Isreal is not interested in sudden diplomacy or in making concessions merely to help the Egyptian president.

On the facts of the situation in Cairo, U.S. and Israeli officials here seem to be in general agreement; they agree that Sadat pulled off a major coup or counter-coup against his political antagonists. They do not think the divisions within the Cairo government were between pro and anti-Soviet factions or between those favoring and those opposing an interim Suez agreement with Israel. They see it primarily as a personal fight for control of the Egyptian government with Sadat winning the critical first round.

In the process, however, Sadat was forced to arrest more cabinet members and alienate more opposition factions than he would have preferred. He stirred up considerable anxiety in the Soviet government, whose president is now in Cairo, and he must now hold the loyalty of the armed forces and reassure the Soviets if he is to consolidate his power.

Accordingly, Sadat has recently hardened his diplomatic line on the Suez question, apparently to reassure the restive Egyptian officers, and has been pressing the Nixon administration to use its influence to get Israel to agree to an interim Suez settlement on Cairo's terms.

☆ ☆ ☆

Israeli officials, however, are not prepared to change their negotiating position in the hope of influencing the internal politics of Cairo. They do not think President Nikolai V. Podgorny and the Soviet delegation have rushed to Cairo to get rid of Sadat, but to avoid a chaotic situation in which their vast investment of men and military equipment would be endangered.

The Israelis are pleased that Sadat survived the conspiracy against him, but the realities of the military and diplomatic situtiou, as they see them, remain about the same.

That is to say, Soviet power is deeply entrenched in Egypt and is in no danger of being removed. Moscow wants order in Egypt and the canal opened, and therefore will probably be glad to see the negotiations with Israel go forward as before.

U.S. officials are not so sure about this. They are not putting pressure on Israel to give Sadat a quick victory, but the Podgorny visit surprised them, and they are not so confident that Moscow or the Egyptian officer corps will adjust to the new situtiou in Cairo if Sadat and the Israelis do not reach a Suez compromise fairly soon.

So there is a difference at least of approach between Washington and Tel Aviv in this delicate situation. Israel is opposed to any Egyptian military presence on the east bank of the canal, even if "symbolic." They are opposed further to Sadat's insistence that any interim settlement of the Suez problem should be regarded as merely the first of several steps leading to the eventual withdrawal of all Israel troops to the pre Six-Day-War frontiers. And they want a binding and unlimited cease-fire.

In short, Washington is urging speed in negotiations and is leaning on Israel to settle, though as yet ever so slightly, while Israel is urging caution and a policy of "judicious leaving alone" until things settle down and the new political atmosphere becomes a little clearer.

In this situation, as Rogers discovered in Cairo, the absence of an influential American ambassador in Egypt is undoubtedly a handicap. He has a foreign service officer there who is active and well-informed, but Rogers and Sadat discussed the prospects of re-establishing diplomatic relations, though no decision was reached on this during the visit.

Nixon is understood to have been in touch with Sadat since the Cairo crisis and is known to be as eager as Rogers for a Suez settlement, but he cannot force a settlement on Israel and until the Podgorny visit is over, nobody is likely to intervene further in the discussions.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Britain And Common Market

LONDON — For Prime Minister Edward Heath, this is a moment of triumph and at the same time a moment of great uncertainty. After repeatedly knocking at the door, Britain is about to enter the European Common Market, which will then become the Market of the Seven, or, with the admission of Norway, Denmark and Ireland, the European Market of the Ten.

As all concerned are solemnly saying, it is a breakthrough that will be enshrined in history. It is the fruition of the dreams of practical visionaries such as Jean Monnet who have worked since the end of the last world war with tireless zeal for a united Europe.

That this moment of triumph should be plagued by uncertainty is no mystery. The articles of agreement for entry into the European market must be approved by Parliament in the face of wide popular opposition. The insular reaction to "those foreigners" has been fomented by the Beaverbrook-Rothermere press. One poll showed the opposition leading by 29 to 1.

Once Britain's entry is formally ratified, Heath's task will be to sell the market to the British public with the hope that Parliament acts before the summer recess. The longer the delay, the more likely the opposition in both parties will solidify, and with the inertia of prolonged dispute, the chance will have been missed. Complicating the selling job is the fact that the first years will see a rise in British food prices and little or no benefit in increased exports to the European continent.

This is allied to another source of uncertainty. Unemployment has steadily risen to new postwar highs, with the latest figures showing total hard-core joblessness dropping only slightly. This is in a month which should normally have meant a sharp seasonal decline. At the same time, prices continue to rise, with the Labor party opposition reminding voters that in the campaign a year ago, Heath promised to bring them down.

The financial pages are full of talk of a deepening recession. From the viewpoint of the Conservatives with Heath as their determined, unflappable leader, a measure of unemployment would serve as a brake on rising wages and help to reverse the welfare statism that has meant cradle-to-the-grave security for Britons. But, as a cure, this kind of medicine canot be turned on or off at will. Wildcat strikes are a continuing plague as Parliament struggles to pass a regulatory law like Taft-Hartley.

Against this backdrop, the dollar crisis throws into sharp relief the question of America's relation to a united Europe. Before he received Heath in Paris for their summit talk, President Georges Pompidou stressed that French should continue to be the language of the enlarged Common Market. English was "the American language." That implied much of the anti-Americanism that has characterized French policy during the past decade.

One of the striking differences between the two sides of the Atlantic is Western Europe's almost-total dependence on oil from the Arab states of the Middle East. With more and more industry and domestic heating geared to oil and with the proliferation of the privately owned motorcar, this looms large as an obstacle to a common policy with America's NATO allies.

Shortly before the dollar crisis made the headlines, representatives of the leading western oil companies met in Teheran with spokesmen for five Arab oil-producing states. President Nixon, to the gratification of the financial community in London, instructed the Department of Justice to ignore the antitrust laws that might have made it illegal for American corporations to join such a move. After long haggling, an agreement was hammered out under the chairmanship of Lord Strathalmond of British Petroleum. The decisive word came from the Shah of Iran.

The sharp increases won by the Arab producers were expressed in dollars. But now as the dollar drifts lower—about 3.4 per cent against the value of the German mark that is no longer anchored to any fixed ratio—these same producers may decide to renege on the agreement. Such a fanatic Moslem as Muammar Qadaffi, Libya's dictator with huge bank balances in Europe, could withhold Libyan oil, which is roughly 75 per cent of West Germany's supply. This is the fear of money men in Europe.

The odds are that it will never happen. But it remains one of the elements that could break the relationship between the two continents as it was broken in the first Suez crisis in 1956.

Watchfulness

Lincoln, Neb.

"The Salvation of the State is Watchfulness in the Citizen." Do Nebraskans still believe these words, which they inscribed on the front of their State Capitol? Those who do will be aware of, and hopefully will disapprove of, the handling of the closing of the Orthopedic Hospital.

The voters supposedly "issued a mandate" in November to hold the line on state spending. When the Budget Committee is not even willing to hear facts showing that the crippled children of Nebraska can receive first-rate care more economically at the Orthopedic Hospital in Lincoln than anywhere else in the state, does that show a concern for the taxpayer?

I wonder about the motives of those who were so eager to close the Lincoln facility. Economy? Then why didn't they listen to both sides? Concern for the children? Then why didn't they budget for the daily clinics, a brace shop within the hospital, or an accredited school system through Grade 12 — all of which is now available at Orthopedic? Better medical staff? The staff at the Orthopedic Hospital includes the finest doctors in Lincoln; they are experienced, qualified, dedicated and contribute their skills for a very nominal fee. The old building in Lincoln? Though in need of repair, it could not continue to operate if it did not pass regular state inspections. What other reason can there be that Nebraskans would approve of?

I know how my senator voted on the measure. Everyone should know how his senator voted and be watchful.

Admits Error

Johnny Rodgers admitted his error before God and man. God forgives, so man should also.

He has lived an exemplary life since. Surely that should prove his worth. He is a big man, in my eyes. I wish there were more people who would admit their errors and say they are sorry. I'm quite sure most people have a little skeleton of some sort in their secret hiding place.

In accordance with an old adage: "Those who are pointing a finger at Johnny Rodgers have three pointing at them."

No Marches

Ord, Neb.

Doesn't anyone care about the Social Security aged ones? We were promised 15 per cent last January. Did we get it? No, 10 per cent!

Immediately three per cent was taken off for sales tax. Postage has risen. Even The Star has had to change the heading for its letters column — no more "six cents worth."

We lost more than another three per cent by the change in Medicare. It was a long cold winter. We are a year older. More visits to the doctor. We enjoy letters and letter-writing, but now the stamps are eight cents. Five for 40 cents and a small dime is all that's left from the ersatz half-dollar.

If the five per cent were to come Dec. 1, 1971, and a later one in June, we'd think someone cared.

If they want us to have food stamps, why not enclose them with our check instead of feeling like a beggar trudging to some office? Walking is difficult, too.

Couldn't we be trusted with franking privileges for our correspondence?

No one marches for the eiderly.

The agenda for the general meeting of NATO foreign ministers in Lisbon, Portugal, June 3-4, will focus on the merits of a European Security Conference being pushed by the Russians and on mutual force reduction. Coming after the U.S. Senate's May 19 rejection of Sen. Mike Mansfield's amendment to cut by half the number of American troops in Europe, as well as Soviet party leader Leonid Brezhnev's May 14 call for negotiations on the mutual reduction of troops, this meeting will actively pursue the prospects for a "draw-down."

Although the Nixon administration seemed agitated by Sen. Mansfield's proposal for bringing home half of the 310,000 U.S. troops, many Europeans seemed remarkably undisturbed. The truth is that Europe has become thoroughly acclimatized to the idea of an American callback. The Guardian remarked editorially, "People in Britain and Western Europe ought to be more worried than they are about the American mood."

☆ ☆ ☆

NATO has been split over the past year on the call for a European Security Conference. Those governments directly involved in negotiations with the Russians—such as West Germany and the United States—are wary of the idea.

There is irony in the possibility that Brezhnev may have timed his proposal for mutual troop reductions in order to make certain Sen. Mansfield's proposal was defeated by the Senate. Any unilateral American withdrawal of troops would put pressure on the Soviets to do the same in Eastern Europe. Red Army commanders may oppose pulling their 285,500 troops out of satellite countries, and calling for a conference would be the easiest way to stall for time.

It is generally agreed that the existing American forces are not sufficient to repulse a determined Soviet offensive in Europe. Thus NATO's conventional forces would be incapable of preventing an armed conflict from quickly turning into a nuclear war. That is why President Nixon said in his message to the last NATO ministerial meeting that, "We have agreed that NATO's conventional forces must not only be maintained, but in certain key areas, strengthened."

Europeans refuse to bear more of the cost of a force which is designed for their own reassurance, notes the Economist.

While the European members of NATO agreed last December to spend an extra $1 billion to improve both forces and facilities over the next five years, the United States still contributes 25 per cent of NATO's continental capability. The U.S. spends about $14 billion a year to maintain defense forces in Europe.

It is unlikely that Europeans will meet the challenge of NATO's ground-force inferiority in Central Europe head-on. Instead, the NATO ministers can be expected to obliquely invite the Warsaw Pact to discuss mutual troop reductions. Meanwhile, the English decline to become excited by the prospect of a possible withdrawal of a couple of American divisions.

McCarthy Looks Ahead

Former Sen. Eugene McCarthy admitted in an interview this week that he was "pretty scarred up" from his unsuccessful fight for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1968 and the criticism he took from erstwhile supporters when he failed to warm to the party's eventual nominee.

But he left room for speculation that he might again take to the campaign trail, this time officially bolting the Democratic stable, to seek the presidency.

In an earlier speech at a bipartisan "Dump Nixon" rally organized by the giant-killer, former Rep. Allard K. Lowenstein of New York, McCarthy said he hoped insurgents in both the Democratic and Republican parties would succeed in nominating candidates committed to ending the war, reforming American politics and reordering priorities. "If we cannot," he said, "then let us have a new party, and a new policy and a true America."

The trouble with McCarthy, and the reason he has such appeal to single-minded people, is that he refuses to deal with politics on any but his own terms. Certainly unable to accept the present administration and the renomination of President Nixon, McCarthy likewise can find glaring faults in any conceivable Democratic candidate or quasi-candidate. He talks about the possibilities of John Lindsay or John Gardner or Mark Hatfield leading a third party movement, but, early as it is for commitments, one still gets the feeling that McCarthy would feel far more comfortable with the third party army behind him.

Lowenstein reportedly was irritated after McCarthy's mention of a third party. "I want us to elect a new president, not start a new protest movement," he said. Practical Lowenstein is and practical McCarthy is not. He may want to assume a posture as the conscience of the nation, but in so doing in his own blinded manner, he is not serving his ideals.

Educational Process Enhanced

One has the feeling that the process involved with the Board of Education's dismissal of a junior high school mathematics teacher has been a generally constructive thing. It is doubtful that the teacher involved, Robert L. Johnson, shares this feeling but this is to be expected.

The basic issue seemed to be whether Johnson lived up to all the more intangible aspects of his profession. That he is a qualified teacher, there is no doubt but the feeling of the board was that he was doing an inadequate job in his classroom teaching.

This came down to an unusual number of failing students in one class and frequent student and parent dissatisfaction with Johnson. Obviously at issue was something beyond the technical requirements of his job. When too many students have problems with a teacher, that teacher should begin to ask himself if he is not, somehow, failing in his obligations.

Johnson himself conceded that he is a demanding teacher and that he does "not coddle students." The board apparently feels he leans too far in this direction while he feels his approach is a proper and constructive one.

The case has had a full and open hearing, a credit to the system and a credit to Johnson. The adversaries in this case, if that is what they might be termed, have had their so-called day in court.

Such a procedure, it seems, is nothing to be feared nor any discredit upon anyone. It is a matter of differing points of view and differing responsibilities, and people and institutions meeting a challenge in a mutual concern for the ultimate welfare of others is something that never needs to be avoided.

Power Battle In Egypt To Be Long Drawn Out; President Sadat Emerges Victor Of First Round

WASHINGTON — For the time being, the U.S. government is visibly pleased and the Soviet government is obviously troubled by the political upheaval in Cairo and the emergence of President Anwar El-Sadat as the dominant figure in Egypt, but the struggle for power there is far from over.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers established a good personal relationship with Sadat during his recent Middle Eastern trip, and would clearly like to see a quick interim settlement of the Suez Canal question which would strengthen Sadat's internal position, but Isreal is not interested in sudden diplomacy or in making concessions merely to help the Egyptian president.

On the facts of the situation in Cairo, U.S. and Israeli officials here seem to be in general agreement; they agree that Sadat pulled off a major coup or counter-coup against his political antagonists. They do not think the divisions within the Cairo government were between pro and anti-Soviet factions or between those favoring and those opposing an interim Suez agreement with Israel. They see it primarily as a personal fight for control of the Egyptian government with Sadat winning the critical first round.

In the process, however, Sadat was forced to arrest more cabinet members and alienate more opposition factions than he would have preferred. He stirred up considerable anxiety in the Soviet government, whose president is now in Cairo, and he must now hold the loyalty of the armed forces and reassure the Soviets if he is to consolidate his power.

Accordingly, Sadat has recently hardened his diplomatic line on the Suez question, apparently to reassure the restive Egyptian officers, and has been pressing the Nixon administration to use its influence to get Israel to agree to an interim Suez settlement on Cairo's terms.

☆ ☆ ☆

Israeli officials, however, are not prepared to change their negotiating position in the hope of influencing the internal politics of Cairo. They do not think President Nikolai V. Podgorny and the Soviet delegation have rushed to Cairo to get rid of Sadat, but to avoid a chaotic situation in whch their vast investment of men and military equipment would be endangered.

The Israelis are pleased that Sadat survived the conspiracy against him, but the realities of the military and diplomatic sitution, as they see them, remain about the same.

That is to say, Soviet power is deeply entrenched in Egypt and is in no danger of being removed. Moscow wants order in Egypt and the canal opened, and therefore will probably be glad to see the negotiations with Israel go forward as before.

U.S. officials are not so sure about this. They are not putting pressure on Israel to give Sadat a quick victory, but the Podgorny visit surprised them, and they are not so confident that Moscow or the Egyptian officer corps will adjust to the new sitution in Cairo if Sadat and the Israelis do not reach a Suez compromise fairly soon.

So there is a difference at least of approach between Washington and Tel Aviv in this delicate situation. Israel is opposed to any Egyptian military presence on the east bank of the canal, even if "symbolic." They are opposed further to Sadat's insistence that any interim settlement of the Suez problem should be regarded as merely the first of several steps leading to the eventual withdrawal of all Israel troops to the pre Six-Day-War frontiers. And they want a binding and unlimited cease-fire.

In short, Washington is urging speed in negotiations and is leaning on Israel to settle, though as yet ever so slightly, while Israel is urging caution and a policy of "judicious leaving alone" until things settle down and the new political atmosphere becomes a little clearer.

In this situation, as Rogers discovered in Cairo, the absence of an influential American ambassador in Egypt is undoubtedly a handicap. He has a foreign service officer there who is active and well-informed, but Rogers and Sadat discussed the prospects of re-establishing diplomatic relations, though no decision was reached on this during the visit.

Nixon is understood to have been in touch with Sadat since the Cairo crisis and is known to be as eager as Rogers for a Suez settlement, but he cannot force a settlement on Israel and until the Podgorny visit is over, nobody is likely to intervene further in the discussions.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Britain And Common Market

LONDON — For Prime Minister Edward Heath, this is a moment of triumph and at the same time a moment of great uncertainty. After repeatedly knocking at the door, Britain is about to enter the European Common Market, which will then become the Market of the Seven, or, with the admission of Norway, Denmark and Ireland, the European Market of the Ten.

As all concerned are solemnly saying, it is a breakthrough that will be enshrined in history. It is the fruition of the dreams of practical visionaries such as Jean Monnet who have worked since the end of the last world war with tireless zeal for a united Europe.

That this moment of triumph should be plagued by uncertainty is no mystery. The articles of agreement for entry into the European market must be approved by Parliament in the face of wide popular opposition. The insular reaction to "those foreigners" has been fomented by the Beaverbrook-Rothermere press. One poll showed the opposition leading by 29 to 1.

Once Britain's entry is formally ratified, Heath's task will be to sell the market to the British public with the hope that Parliament acts before the summer recess. The longer the delay, the more likely the opposition in both parties will solidify, and with the inertia of prolonged dispute, the chance will have been missed. Complicating the selling job is the fact that the first years will see a rise in British food prices and little or no benefit in increased exports to the European continent.

This is allied to another source of uncertainty. Unemployment has steadily risen to new postwar highs, with the latest figures showing total hard-core joblessness dropping only slightly. This is in a month which should normally have meant a sharp seasonal decline. At the same time, prices continue to rise, with the Labor party opposition reminding voters that in the campaign a year ago, Heath promised to bring them down.

The financial pages are full of talk of a deepening recession. From the viewpoint of the Conservatives with Heath as their determined, unflappable leader, a measure of unemployment would serve as a brake on rising wages and help to reverse the welfare statism that has meant cradle-to-the-grave security for Britons. But, as a cure, this kind of medicine canot be turned on or off at will. Wildcat strikes are a continuing plague as Parliament struggles to pass a regulatory law like Taft-Hartley.

Against this backdrop, the dollar crisis throws into sharp relief the question of America's relation to a united Europe. Before he received Heath in Paris for their summit talk, President Georges Pompidou stressed that French should continue to be the language of the enlarged Common Market. English was "the American language." That implied much of the anti-Americanism that has characterized French policy during the past decade.

One of the striking differences between the two sides of the Atlantic is Western Europe's almost-total dependence on oil from the Arab states of the Middle East. With more and more industry and domestic heating geared to oil and with the proliferation of the privately owned motorcar, this looms large as an obstacle to a common policy with America's NATO allies.

Shortly before the dollar crisis made the headlines, representatives of the leading western oil companies met in Teheran with spokesmen for five Arab oil-producing states. President Nixon, to the gratification of the financial community in London, instructed the Department of Justice to ignore the antitrust laws that might have made it illegal for American corporations to join such a move. After long haggling, an agreement was hammered out under the chairmanship of Lord Strathalmond of British Petroleum. The decisive word came from the Shah of Iran.

The sharp increases won by the Arab producers were expressed in dollars. But now as the dollar drifts lower—about 3.4 per cent against the value of the German mark that is no longer anchored to any fixed ratio—these same producers may decide to renege on the agreement. Such a fanatic Moslem as Muammar Qadaffi, Libya's dictator with huge bank balances in Europe, could withhold Libyan oil, which is roughly 75 per cent of West Germany's supply. This is the fear of money men in Europe.

The odds are that it will never happen. But it remains one of the elements that could break the relationship between the two continents as it was broken in the first Suez crisis in 1956.

Watchfulness

Lincoln, Neb.

"The Salvation of the State is Watchfulness in the Citizen." Do Nebraskans still believe these words, which they inscribed on the front of their State Capitol? Those who do will be aware of, and hopefully will disapprove of, the handling of the closing of the Orthopedic Hospital.

The voters supposedly "issued a mandate" in November to hold the line on state spending. When the Budget Committee is not even willing to hear facts showing that the crippled children of Nebraska can receive first-rate care more economically at the Orthopedic Hospital in Lincoln than anywhere else in the state, does that show a concern for the taxpayer?

I wonder about the motives of those who were so eager to close the Lincoln facility. Economy? Then why didn't they listen to both sides? Concern for the children? Then why didn't they budget for the daily clinics, a brace shop within the hospital, or an accredited school system through Grade 12 — all of which is now available at Orthopedic? Better medical staff? The staff at the Orthopedic Hospital includes the finest doctors in Lincoln; they are experienced, qualified, dedicated and contribute their skills for a very nominal fee. The old building in Lincoln? Though in need of repair, it could not continue to operate if it did not pass regular state inspections. What other reason can there be that Nebraskans would approve of?

I know how my senator voted on the measure. Everyone should know how his senator voted and be watchful.

Admits Error

Hamburg, Iowa

Johnny Rodgers admitted his error before God and man. God forgives, so man should also.

He has lived an exemplary life since. Surely that should prove his worth. He is a big man, in my eyes. I wish there were more people who would admit their errors and say they are sorry. I'm quite sure most people have a little skeleton of some sort in their secret hiding place.

In accordance with an old adage: "Those who are pointing a finger at Johnny Rodgers have three pointing at them."

No Marches

Ord, Neb.

Doesn't anyone care about the Social Security aged ones? We were promised 15 per cent last January. Did we get it? No, 10 per cent!

Immediately three per cent was taken off for sales tax. Postage has risen. Even The Star has had to change the heading for its letters column — no more "six cents worth."

We lost more than another three per cent by the change in Medicare. It was a long cold winter. We are a year older. More visits to the doctor. We enjoy letters and letter-writing, but now the stamps are eight cents. Five for 40 cents and a small dime is all that's left from the ersatz half-dollar.

If the five per cent were to come Dec. 1, 1971, and a later one in June, we'd think someone cared.

If they want us to have food stamps, why not enclose them with our check instead of feeling like a beggar trudging to some office? Walking is difficult, too.

Couldn't we be trusted with franking privileges for our correspondence?

No one marches for the elderly.

Jewelers, Used Car Dealers Are Lacking In Compliance

The New York Times

Washington — Jewelry stores and used car dealers have compiled the worst records among major installment-sales creditors for compliance with the Truth-In-Lending Act, the Federal Trade Commission reported Thursday.

Despite the performance of the used-cars segment, automobile dealers as a whole scored highest in a compliance survey made by the commission's staff.

The survey covered five classes of retailers — new and used automobile dealers, home improvement concerns, television and appliance dealers, furniture stores and jewelry stores. The report gave the compliance record of each, from best to worst, in the order named.

The Truth-In-Lending Act, in effect since July 1, 1969, requires consumer creditors to disclose to borrowers their finance charges in dollars and cents, and as an "annual percentage rate."

The FTC found that installment contracts of 86% of the creditors surveyed were at least in "substantial compliance" with the law. That is, they used the correct terms in disclosing the annual percentage rate and finance charge, although some failed to comply fully with other more technical requirements.

"Total compliance" was achieved by 69%, while 14% were classified as being in serious violation of the law.

The survey results, by category, were as follows:

	Total Compliance	Substantial Compliance	Serious Violation
Auto	76%	16%	8%
Home Improve't	6	23	11
TV & Appliance	65	18	17
Furniture	63	17	20
Jewelry (A)	51	12	38

(A) Percentages do not add to 100 because of rounding.

New and used-car dealers were not classified separately. The commission staff cited sales-volume figures in concluding that the record of used-car dealers was bad.

Fox Studio's Management Claims Victory

New York (UPI) — An unofficial tally gave victory Thursday to Darryl F. Zanuck and the management of Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. in its recent proxy contest, but insurgent stockholders vowed to take the fight to court.

Judges who counted the shares voted at the annual meeting in Wilmington, Del., May 18, said unofficially the management led by President Dennis Stannill and Board Chairman Zanuck won by about 1.5 million shares out of 6.4 million voted.

The spokesman for the dissidents, Charles M. Lewis, partner in Treves & Co., a Wall Street brokerage house, noted that the insurgents had until the official announcement of the vote on June 8 to check and challenge the proxies voted by management.

The Stannill victory apparently means Zanuck either can remain as chairman or go through with his resignation from that post and head up an independent production unit within Fox. Since he is 68, he would have to step down from the chairmanship in about 17 months, anyway.

State Investment Council Awaits Legal Opinion

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Investment Council has deferred policy decisions regarding the investment of the $43 million Permanent School Trust Fund pending receipt of an attorney general's opinion, State Investment Officer Fred S. Kuethe reported Thursday.

"We don't anticipate any legal obstacles," Kuethe said regarding a requested legal opinion on the council's "investment authority" over the fund.

Earlier this year, the Legislature directed the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds (BELF) to turn the fund over to the investment council.

'On Solid Ground'

Kuethe said the council received an inventory of $43 million fund from the BELF last month, but requested an attorney general's opinion "to make sure the council was on solid ground before beginning to invest the school fund."

In previously requested opinions, the attorney general's office has advised the council that it may invest in the federally guaranteed loans of the Small Business Administration and certain federally guaranteed securities of the Federal National Mortgage Association.

In other action, the council directed Kuethe to make a detailed study and report for the administration of the student loan program authorized by the 1971 Legislature's LB152.

Federally Guaranteed

Kuethe said the legislation permits the state to invest in federally guaranteed student loans under a program administered jointly by the State Colleges Board and the investment council.

Approximately $32,000 was appropriated for administrative costs, he said.

"We hope to begin making student loans with the 1971-72 school year," he said.

Additionally, he said, state funds could be invested in "outstanding" federally guaranteed loans to Nebraska students, thus freeing funds in the "private sector" for new student loans.

Kuethe reported $88 million in state funds were invested during April, and approximately $107 million had been invested so far this month.

Royal Grove License Suspended

The State Liquor Control Commission Thursday announced it has suspended the Class C license of the Royal Grove at 340 West Cornhusker Hwy. for seven days commencing last Monday.

In its suspension order, the commission said the licensee, SPA Inc., had operated the club in such manner as to create a public nuisance or censure.

Two Lincoln police officers testified at the commission hearing regarding a crowd disturbance at the Royal Grove on March 31 during its weekly-featured "go-go girl contest."

Crowd Angered

The officers, who had been assigned to investigate reports of topless dancing during previous contests said the crowd of 300 to 350 persons "became angry because of no nudity" during the March 31 show.

Departure of the uniformed officers was urged by several persons, according to testimony, so "we can get on with the show."

Bottles and glasses were broken and chairs were overturned, according to the officers, before the club manager, Tom Jelsma, could clear out the crowd.

Contests Discontinued

Jelsma's attorney told the commission that the disturbance was "spontaneous," and noted the weekly go-go girl contests have since been abandoned.

The commission also reported a rehearing request by the Human Relations Insight League regarding its protest against the issuance of a Class C license to the Lincoln Elks Lodge No. 80.

The league protested the renewal of the license, later granted by the commission, because of racial discrimination in the Elks membership requirements.

The commission also reported the following license suspensions:

—Paul C. Staehr, doing business as "Jim's Liquor and Beer" at 2202 O, ten days beginning June 14 for sale to minors.

—Elsie Christiansen, dba Chris's Tavern at Nebraska City, seven days beginning June 7 for sale to minor.

—LaVern Finley, dba Broadway Bar at Ewing, five days beginning June 14 for sale to minor.

—Ronald R. Carson of Spencer, five days beginning June 7 for sale to minor.

—Owl Liquors Inc., of Nebraska City, 14 days beginning June 14 for sale to minor.

—Iona Detweiler, dba Star Drive-In Liquor at Grand Island, 14 days beginning June 14 for sale to minor.

Roads Dept. Employes Say Organization Going Ahead

The formation of Nebraska Department of Roads Employes Association is progressing toward the target date of Aug. 1, its constitutional committee reported Thursday.

In a prepared statement, the committee said the employe organization would seek to improve the "status of employment" by the department to a level enjoyed by private enterprise and comparable federal agencies.

Election of the constitutional committee, according to the report, followed a poll of employes of the roads department and an organizational meeting.

The committee said it has received numerous inquiries from personnel of other state agencies as to whether they may join the association.

The answer is "no" at the present time, the committee said, because of time limitations, funding and other considerations in forming an association in a large department.

"However," the committee said, "our ultimate goal is not to restrict membership in an employe-represented association to only the Department of Roads."

"We would welcome the opportunity of eventually joining forces with personnel of all state agencies in a single employe-represented organization," it added.

The committee said the embryo association will seek registration with the State Court of Industrial Relations as a collective bargaining unit for department employes, in whole or in part, with department management.

Collective bargaining by public employes is permitted under state laws enacted by the 1969 Legislature.

Piece By Piece, Metal Storage Shed Vanishes

Vandalia, Ill. (AP) —Piece by piece, Elwood Durbin's 25-foot-long metal storage shed has disappeared from his farm east of Vandalia.

When he awoke Wednesday, he said the roof and rafters were missing.

He drove into town and reported the theft to Deputy Sheriff Carroll Dugan.

When he returned home, there was nothing left but the concrete floor, on which his garden tractor, tools and other equipment remained.

"I'm completely mystified," said Durbin.

"So am I," said Dugan.

State Investment Council Awaits Legal Opinion

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Investment Council has deferred policy decisions regarding the investment of the $43 million Permanent School Trust Fund pending receipt of an attorney general's opinion, State Investment Officer Fred S. Kuethe reported Thursday.

"We don't anticipate any legal obstacles," Kuethe said regarding a requested legal opinion on the council's "investment authority" over the fund.

Earlier this year, the Legislature directed the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds (BELF) to turn the fund over to the investment council.

'On Solid Ground'

Kuethe said the council received an inventory of $43 million fund from the BELF last month, but requested an attorney general's opinion "to make sure the council was on solid ground before beginning to invest the school fund."

In previously requested opinions, the attorney general's office has advised the council that it may invest in the federally guaranteed loans of the Small Business Administration and certain federally guaranteed securities of the Federal National Mortgage Association.

In other action, the council directed Kuethe to make a detailed study and report for the administration of the student loan program authorized by the 1971 Legislature's LB152.

Federally Guaranteed

Kuethe said the legislation permits the state to invest in federally guaranteed student loans under a program administered jointly by the State Colleges Board and the investment council.

Approximately $32,000 was appropriated for administrative costs, he said.

"We hope to begin making student loans with the 1971-72 school year," he said.

Additionally, he said, state funds could be invested in "outstanding" federally guaranteed loans to Nebraska students, thus freeing funds in the "private sector" for new student loans.

Kuethe reported $88 million in state funds were invested during April, and approximately $107 million had been invested so far this month.

Royal Grove License Suspended

The State Liquor Control Commission Thursday announced it has suspended the Class C license of the Royal Grove at 340 West Cornhusker Hwy. for seven days commencing last Monday.

In its suspension order, the commission said the licensee, SPA Inc., had operated the club in such manner as to create a public nuisance or censure.

Two Lincoln police officers testified at the commission hearing regarding a crowd disturbance at the Royal Grove on March 31 during its weekly-featured "go-go girl contest."

Crowd Angered

The officers, who had been assigned to investigate reports of topless dancing during previous contests said the crowd of 300 to 350 persons "became angry because of no nudity" during the March 31 show.

Departure of the uniformed officers was urged by several persons, according to testimony, so "we can get on with the show."

Bottles and glasses were broken and chairs were overturned, according to the officers, before the club manager, Tom Jelsma, could clear out the crowd.

Contests Discontinued

Jelsma's attorney told the commission that the disturbance was "spontaneous," and noted the weekly go-go girl contests have since been abandoned.

The commission also reported a rehearing request by the Human Relations Insight League regarding its protest against the issuance of a Class C license to the Lincoln Elks Lodge No. 80.

The league protested the renewal of the license, later granted by the commission, because of racial discrimination in the Elks membership requirements.

The commission also reported the following license suspensions:

—Paul C. Staehr, doing business as "Jim's Liquor and Beer" at 2202 O, ten days beginning June 14 for sale to minors.

—Elsie Christiansen, dba Chris's Tavern at Nebraska City, seven days beginning June 7 for sale to minor.

—LaVern Finley, dba Broadway Bar at Ewing, five days beginning June 14 for sale to minor.

—Ronald R. Carson of Spencer, five days beginning June 7 for sale to minor.

—Owl Liquors Inc., of Nebraska City, 14 days beginning June 14 for sale to minor.

—Iona Detweiler, dba Star Drive-In Liquor at Grand Island, 14 days beginning June 14 for sale to minor.

Roads Dept. Employes Say Organization Going Ahead

The formation of Nebraska Department of Roads Employes Association is progressing toward the target date of Aug. 1, its constitutional committee reported Thursday.

In a prepared statement, the committee said the employe organization would seek to improve the "status of employment" by the department to a level enjoyed by private enterprise and comparable federal agencies.

Election of the constitutional committee, according to the report, followed a poll of employes of the roads department and an organizational meeting.

The committee said it has received numerous inquiries from personnel of other state agencies as to whether they may join the association.

The answer is "no" at the present time, the committee said, because of time limitations, funding and other considerations in forming an association in a large department.

"However," the committee said, "our ultimate goal is not to restrict membership in an employe-represented association to only the Department of Roads."

"We would welcome the opportunity of eventually joining forces with [illegible]sonnel of all state agencies in a single employe-represented organization," it added.

The committee said the embryo association will seek registration with the State Court of Industrial Relations as a collective bargaining unit for department employes, in whole or in part, with department management.

Collective bargaining by public employes is permitted under state laws enacted by the 1969 Legislature.

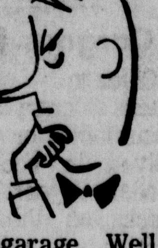
POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

We sold the family scatter, and now we must depart. It takes a lot of jack to move Jill.

She said: "We won't have nearly as much room. I'll have to sell everything!"



I said: "Don't sell anything of mine, hear?"

True. The sold home had a lot of space. Many closets. Storerooms. Room over the garage. Well, naturally we filled all this space. If something broke, we said: "Put it in the back closet." We didn't throw it out.

Life's debris is now reappearing. Out of dusty cardboard boxes.

☆ ☆ ☆

She said: "We can surely get rid of that guitar." I said: "Keep your hands off that guitar."

I get out the guitar on moody days. Not moody often. More a ray of sunshine, I'd say. But if I do get moody, I whack the guitar: "Old Pal, Why Don't You Answer Me?"

After a few hours I feel much better.

I said: "Why don't you get rid of some of those clothes? That green sweater is pretty old, isn't it?"

She said: "You mean you don't like the things I wear?"

I said: "I'm just talking about clearing out all this junk we've accumulated."

She said: "I've always liked that sweater."

She said: "Do you really need all those books? What about this "Statistical Abstract of the United States?"

I said: "Put that down. You're interfering with the freedom of the press."

The children took a look in the hallway full of discards. They let out a terrible shriek: "You can't throw away these beautiful rocks we collected!"

They put them back in their rooms. They locked their doors.

☆ ☆ ☆

Very hard to break up the old homestead. We have a coil of wire left over from when we built the fence. It could be just the thing I need someday. I hate to give that up.

I said: "Hold onto it. We might run into a mosquito again somewhere."

☆ ☆ ☆

Hard times, neighbor. When you must unload the things you might have used if things had happened that never did.

I said: "Let's do it gradually. Let's put everything we think should go in the hallway." I said: "Now wait a minute before you say no. We'll just put them in the hallway."

I said: "Then we'll think about it. Next day we'll move them up in the garage. Near the garbage can, but not in it."

I said: "Then next day we'll put them in the garbage can — we'll buy a new one. A clean one. But we won't let the garbage man take it that week."

☆ ☆ ☆

I said: "We can get rid of these things without withdrawal symptoms." I said: "We can start by putting this old wig case in the hall."

She said: "Not that! I might find some use for it someday."

Marketing Award Winners Named

Two high-ranking business students at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln were named Thursday as winners of the Earl S. Fullbrook Award for excellence in the study of marketing.

The students are Harlan Stuart Abrahams, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Abrahams, Omaha, and Marcia Renner, daughter of Mrs. Marcella Renner, Lincoln.

Abrahams, a junior in the College of Business Administration, was cited for his work in first-year marketing courses. Upon graduation he plans to attend law school.

Miss Renner, first woman student ever to win the award, was chosen for her performance in advanced course work. After her graduation from NU next week she plans a marketing career.

The award was established after the death of the late Dean Earl S. Fullbrook, who served as head of NU's College of Business Administration from 1946 to 1958.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

We sold the family scatter, and now we must depart. It takes a lot of jack to move Jill.

She said: "We won't have nearly as much room. I'll have to sell everything!"

I said: "Don't sell anything of mine, hear?"

True. The sold home had a lot of space. Many closets. Storerooms. Room over the garage. Well, naturally we filled all this space. If something broke, we said. "Put it in the back closet." We didn't throw it out.

Life's debris is now reappearing. Out of dusty cardboard boxes.

☆ ☆ ☆

She said: "We can surely get rid of that guitar." I said: "Keep your hands off that guitar."

I get out the guitar on moody days. Not moody often. More a ray of sunshine, I'd say. But if I do get moody, I whack the guitar: "Old Pal, Why Don't You Answer Me?"

After a few hours I feel much better

I said: "Why don't you get rid of some of those clothes? That green sweater is pretty old, isn't it?"

She said: "You mean you don't like the things I wear?"

I said: "I'm just talking about clearing out all this junk we've accumulated "

She said: "I've always liked that sweater."

☆ ☆ ☆

She said: "Do you really need all those books? What about this "Statistical Abstract of the United States?"

I said: "Put that down. You're interfering with the freedom of the press."

The children took a look in the hallway full of discards. They let out a terrible shriek: "You can't throw away these beautiful rocks we collected!"

They put them back in their rooms. They locked their doors.

☆ ☆ ☆

Very hard to break up the old homestead We have a coil of wire left over from when we built the fence It could be just the thing I need someday. I hate to give that up.

I said: "Hold onto it. We might run into a mosquito again somewhere "

☆ ☆ ☆

Hard times, neighbor. When you must unload the things you might have used if things had happened that never did.

I said: "Let's do it gradually. Let's put everything we think should go in the hallway." I said: "Now wait a minute before you say no. We'll just put them in the hallway."

I said: "Then we'll think about it Next day we'll move them up in the garage. Near the garbage can, but not in it."

I said: "Then next day we'll put them in the garbage can — we'll buy a new one. A clean one. But we won't let the garbage man take it that week."

☆ ☆ ☆

I said: "We can get rid of these things without withdrawal symptoms " I said: "We can start by putting this old wig case in the hall "

She said: "Not that! I might find some use for it someday "

Insurance Guaranty Unit Organization To Begin In 2 Weeks

By United Press International

State Insurance Director Samuel Van Pelt said Thursday the task of putting into effect a law designed to protect policyholders from insolvent insurers would begin in two weeks.

One of the last items of business for the 1971 Legislature before it adjourned Wednesday was passage of the Nebraska Insurance Guaranty Act. It was signed into law by the governor the same day.

In short, the law calls for creation of a setup similar to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC), which insures bank deposits, only for insurance policyholders instead.

Begun Under Tiemann

The legislation had its beginnings under the administration of former Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann and was introduced in the Unicameral by Sen. Herb Duis of Gothenburg.

Its terms provide for establishment of a guaranty association which would step in and pay off outstanding claims on policies issued by a company that went out of business.

The first step in carrying out its terms is the appointment of a seven-member board for the association. Selected by the industry, they would be subject to Van Pelt's approval.

At least four would be representatives of Nebraska-based firms, and the rest from any company doing business in the state.

Specifically, the association would stand behind property damage policy-issuing companies. This would not include either life or health insurance, Van Pelt said, but would cover automobile insurers and home owner-type policies.

Industry Assessed

Money to pay the claims would come from the industry on an assessment basis. Under the terms of the law, the assessment would be based on the premiums paid by Nebraska policyholders to the individual firms.

The association would have no function until a firm reached insolvency, the director said, then it would move in and see that claims pending at the time of insolvency were paid "fairly promptly."

As an example for the need of the legislation, Van Pelt cited a case pending in Douglas County District Court.

The firm, United Benefit Fire, was declared insolvent five years ago, the director said. He added it appears it will be another year before a settlement is reached.

50 Cents On Dollar

It is estimated that those policyholders who had claims against the firm would receive about 50 cents on the dollar, Van Pelt said.

Some 40 states have similar legislation, the director said, primarily brought about during the last five years after an attempt was made to establish an association at the national level by Congress.

The insurance industry didn't want a national association, Van Pelt said, but have been in favor of state associations.

Surfacing Begins North Of Seward

The State Roads Department reported Thursday that asphaltic concrete surfacing has begun on nearly 10 miles of roads north of Seward.

The $258,826 project, the department said, includes four miles of Neb. 66 west from Dwight and the Garland and Bee spurs. It is expected to be completed July 10.

Cargoes Dangerous

Chicago — At least 3,000 trucks carrying explosives, flammables or poisons were involved in accidents on U.S. roads last year. One of every 10 trucks on the highways now carries a potentially lethal cargo.

Robert Taft Jr. Named Favorite Son Candidate

Columbus, Ohio (UPI) —U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr. became a favorite son presidential candidate Thursday in an attempt to rally support for President Nixon against antiwar forces in 1972 primary elections.

Taft announced as a candidate "to unite our party" and head a slate of Ohio delegates bound to Nixon's renomination at the 1972 Republican National Convention.

The GOP Senator said his candidacy was not an attempt to place himself in contention for nomination as vice president in the event Spiro T. Agnew should be dropped from the national ticket.

Footlights & Canvas

Good morning:

This month more or less marks the end of the winter season in the Lincoln fine arts presentations. It's been an excellent season, chock full of fine productions and exhibits.

Our job of reporting the events has been greatly facilitated by the many fine people who have been so generous, patient and helpful. As the season ends, many of the arts organizations have elected new officers, and we look forward to working with these people as well. However, in bold type we would like to say THANK YOU to all of those who cooperated and contributed in our first year of "Footlights and Canvas."

It is difficult to compose a complete list, and yet we would like to name drop just a bit. At the Lincoln Community Playhouse our informers were director John Wilson and membership chairman Mrs. Elaine Bullard. Keeping their eyes open at the Sheldon Art Gallery were director Norman Geske and assistant director, Jon Nelson. A cohort, so to speak with the events at Sheldon was Mrs. Curtis D. Kimball, outgoing president of the Nebraska Art Association and a fine private eye.

We'll be forever grateful to the Community Arts Council for its supportive assistance through president Richard L. White and past executive director, Thomas Carroll. Paul Bogott stretched a great helping hand to us from the Lincoln Community Concert Series, and Mrs. William Zieg, past president of the Lincoln Artists' Guild deserves praise for her kind assistance, as does Mrs. Harry Abbott.

Robert Narveson bent our collective ears many times with news of the forthcoming events of the Lincoln Friends of Chamber Music. In campus circles, our insight was heightened by the descriptive information supplied by Darrel Seng, Henry Blanke and Miss Eleanor Lindstrom.

From ETV, we enjoyed the weekly visits with Ed Vitzthum. Keeping on her toes was Mrs. Pat Culver at City Recreation who has been doing some great things with children productions. Mrs. Pat Martin at the Haymarket Gallery was also one of our obliging contributors.

There are many more who have helped to make our column possible. Again we thank all of our contributors and ask all of you to continue to join us.

STRIKE UP THE BAND . . . because this summer will bring another season of Summer Pop Concerts by the Lincoln Municipal Band. As in years past, the six concerts will be held in the band shell at Antelope Park. This year the series will begin on June 27, with the 30 piece professional band ready to begin at 7:30 o'clock. Admission is free, and it is a perfect way to spend a summer evening.

THE VILLAIN AND THE HERO . . . are just two of the 11 roles that will be open for auditions tonight as the Mellerdrammers seek role players for its next production, "Love Rides The Rails." Auditions will begin at 5 o'clock at the Gaslight, 322 So. 9th Street. Currently, "The Drunkard" is on stage each evening at 9 o'clock, and will run through June 19.

A LA CAR BUMPERS . . . Sidney Buchanan, an assistant professor at the University of Omaha Campus uses old discarded car bumpers and chrome metal in his sculptures. It is the welding torch and not the painting brush that serves as his primary tool. Part of the Gallery's permanent collection, a group of his large works are now on exhibit at the Sheldon Art Gallery and the Sculpture Garden. Open now the exhibit continues through June 20.

. . . CURTAIN CALL . . . SILENT AUCTION . . . for some fine pieces are being held at the Sheldon Art Gallery. The benefit auction is being held for art instructor Tom Coleman. Bids will be taken till June 7.

. . . CHILDREN'S . . . Theatre tryouts will be held tonight, and Saturday at the Lincoln [illegible] 3:30 to 5:30. All ages are welcome for the tryouts.

Around Town

We could begin the morning's conversation with guests — or bridal attendants — or with parties — all of which we'll mention in a moment or two—

But our choice for starting the day involves a very young and petite young lady who made her world debut on Monday, May 24 — in Atlanta, Ga.

This brand new personality we have in mind is Jocelyn Reeves Davis whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Davis of Atlanta, and whose mother is the former Kathy Amen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Amen. We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Amen naturally are very excited about their first grandchild and that Mrs. Amen isn't waiting any longer to deliver personal greetings. She leaves today for Atlanta.

* * *

We mentioned guests — There were four of them in town on Thursday, and the name of one will have a most familiar ring to Lincoln. She is Mrs. Ray F. Morgan of Tucson, Ariz., a former Lincoln resident, who has been visiting relatives in Nebraska and who was in town just for the day. Mrs. Morgan was accompanied to Lincoln by her sister, Mrs. John W. Clark of Stella, and Mrs. Clark's son-in-law, Blair Williams, and her granddaughter, Miss Mary Ann Williams.

The members of the foursome were the luncheon guests of Mrs. George G. Swingle who entertained at the Lincoln Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, as the East campus and the city campus of the University of Nebraska well know, resided in Lincoln for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan had been Lincoln residents for a number of years before moving to Tucson. Mr. Morgan is no stranger to the East campus and the city campus at the University of Nebraska. For quite a lengthy period of time he was a member of the faculty at the College of Agriculture, but his prowess and talents in photography caused the city campus to woo him away from agriculture, to the city campus where he established the department of photography in the School of Journalism.

And this is the morning that Miss Carolyn Chapin, whose marriage to John Hoelscher will be solemnized at 5 o'clock on Saturday, June 12, is announcing the members of the bridal party.

For her matron of honor Miss Chapin has chosen Mrs. Stephen Davis of St. Petersburg, Va., the former Jennifer Stafford of Lincoln. Miss Sally Olsson of Red Oak, Iowa, is to be the maid of honor, and the threesome of bridesmatrons will include Mrs. Scott Allen of Omaha; Mrs. Fred Hoelscher and Mrs. Jesse Vaughn, both of St. Louis, Mo. Miss Robin Ross will be the junior bridesmaid.

Fred Hoelscher of St. Louis will serve as best man, and the ushers will be Jesse Vaughn, also of St. Louis; Tom O'Connor of Omaha; David Jackman and Mark Ross, both of Lincoln.

We have news of more parties for Miss Kathy Leuthauser this morning. Miss Leuthauser, who has chosen Saturday, June 5 as the date of her marriage to Paul Pinard of White Plains, N.Y., was complimented with a brunch and gadget shower last Tuesday morning when Mrs. Edwin George and Mrs. Asa Waters were hostesses at the Hillcrest Country Club.

Officers Named

At the May meeting of the Elliott School Parent-Teacher Association, Jasper Skinner was elected that group's president for the coming year.

Other officers elected at the meeting include Mrs. Joseph Adams, vice president; Mrs. Elmer Reichwaldt, secretary; Mrs. LeRoy Kuwamoto, treasurer; and Mrs. Dale VanDusen and Mrs. Darrell Bailey, council delegates.

June Brides-Elect Are Incentives For Parties

We'll hazard a guess that there won't be one vacant processional aisle in the city on Saturday, June 5. That seems to be the popular day for the wedding that begin in the morning and continue through the day and into the evening.

One of the June 5 brides is Miss Gloria Medina who has chosen that date for her marriage to David Van Hook. And Miss Medina is no exception to other June brides when it comes to parties.

Last Wednesday evening, for instance, the bride-elect was the honoree at a party for which Mrs. Richard Wray and Mrs. William Medina were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Medina. The guests were invited for an informal evening during which the soon-to-be bride was presented with a shower.

Somehow, somewhere, away back in the dim and distant past, the year's sixth month acquired the reputation of being the month of brides. No one can deny that June still takes the honors as the month of weddings although the competition is becoming stronger year after year.

June, 1971, is brimming with weddings and among them is that of Miss Judy Haeffner and Gary Smith who have a Saturday, June 5, processional aisle awaiting them.

Miss Haeffner has been honored at many courtesies and one of the recent ones was the miscellaneous shower for which Mrs. Jerry Bailey and Miss Karen Erg were hostesses.

Members Of Bridal Party Are Named

Announcing plansthis morning for a June 5 wedding is Miss Judy Haeffner, whose marriage to Gary Smith of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Smith of Loup City, will be solemnized in an evening ceremony at the Christ United Methodist Church.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Haeffner of Burr, the bride-to-be has named her sister, Mrs. Neal Bentzinger of Cook as her matron of honor. Attending Miss Haeffner as bridesmatrons will be Mrs. Roger Pieper of Dunbar, Mrs. Robert Seagren of Wausa and Mrs. Norm Comstock of Fort Ord, Calif.

Willard Mueller will serve Mr. Smith as best man, and the groomsmen will be Gene Kelly, Rex Koski and Don Rezek of Phoenix, Ariz.

Miss Haeffner was the honored guest at a miscellaneous shower in Burr on April 23. The party was given by the WSCS of the Burr Methodist Church.

One of the June 5 brides is Miss Gloria Medina who has chosen that date for her marriage to David Van Hook. And Miss Medina is no exception to other June brides when it comes to parties.

Last Wednesday evening, for instance, the bride-elect was the honoree at a party for which Mrs. Richard Wray and Mrs. William Medina were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Medina. The guests were invited for an informal evening during which the soon-to-be bride was presented with a shower.

Somehow, somewhere, away back in the dim and distant past, the year's sixth month acquired the reputation of being the month of brides. No one can deny that June still takes the honors as the month of weddings although the competition is becoming stronger year after year.

June, 1971, is brimming with weddings and among them is that of Miss Judy Haeffner and Gary Smith who have a Saturday, June 5, processional aisle awaiting them.

Miss Haeffner has been honored at many courtesies and one of the recent ones was the miscellaneous shower for which Mrs. Jerry Bailey and Miss Karen Erg were hostesses.

Members Of Bridal Party Are Named

Announcing plansthis morning for a June 5 wedding is Miss Judy Haeffner, whose marriage to Gary Smith of Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Smith of Loup City, will be solemnized in an evening ceremony at the Christ United Methodist Church.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Haeffner of Burr, the bride-to-be has named her sister, Mrs. Neal Bentzinger of Cook as her matron of honor. Attending Miss Haeffner as bridesmatrons will be Mrs. Roger Pieper of Dunbar, Mrs. Robert Seagren of Wausa and Mrs. Norm Comstock of Fort Ord, Calif.

Willard Mueller will serve Mr. Smith as best man, and the groomsmen will be Gene Kelly, Rex Koski and Don Rezek of Phoenix, Ariz.

Miss Haeffner was the honored guest at a miscellaneous shower in Burr on April 23. The party was given by the WSCS of the Burr Methodist Church.

on a tour of the shops

Toys have become so much more than the simple doll or teddy bear or race car. The advancement of technology has not been missed by toy manufacturers. At an early age, children are exposed to educational toys that aid in their development and stimulate their creativity.

Parents are purchasing more arts and crafts kits, play and work tools and space toys than ever before. These items are designed to develop specific skills and concepts.

AT HOVLAND-SWANSON

Hovlands features a group of indoor and outdoor toys by Creative Playthings upon which we feasted our eyes. Today we decided to concentrate on some of the outdoor playthings.

Down by the beach, or at home in the sandbox, any child will delight in a sand machine that drops sand from a hopper down onto paddles that turn with the sand movement. And what is sand play without sand cans and a sifter in rugged aluminum? Beach play also might involve fishing — a toy winding reel and line comes complete with red, yellow, and green fish — what fisherman can beat that? In case the child decides to step into the water, Creative Playthings takes away the worry with the spiralo, an inflatable vinyl inner tube that adjusts to any size person.

Two flightly activities might be flying the flexikite or flying with the upswing climber. The flexikite has no sticks or framework, the material design alters its shape to adjust to the wind. Children are "up in the air" about the upswing climber that attaches to a tree or rafter and contains handy footholds and a seat at the bottom.

From the upswing climber, we are sure that little ones would enjoy stepping to and fro on six colorful plastic disc stepping stones that can be easily spaced for walks and obstacle courses.

Even though children love to play outside, there is something magical about having their very own playhouse or tent. Creative Playthings concocted an instant playhouse in bright aqua, yellow, and white fiberboard that easily sets up a house, fort, store, or post office. For roughing it, there is always the canvas pup tent for overnight campouts and playtime.

For the very young generation that likes to play games and learn at the same time, Creative Playthings has many games such as perception plaques — a group of 24 funny faces. The object is to spot differences in the faces and find the 12 matching pairs. Matchmates is another game involving perception. The child learns to associate numerals and quantities by fitting puzzle-like cards together that fit into place only when it is a correct match. A game called colors and shapes utilizes many games as the youngsters learn to recognize and name shapes and colors.

For the children with the adventurous spirit, the exploration game is just the thing. Each player organizes an expedition over land and sea, but has many hazards to overcome.

There is a little bit of the urge toward arts in everyone, and children aren't neglected in this aspect. For starters, there is a 6-piece rhythm band set that includes a triangle and holder, a block, cymbals, tambourine, castanet, and a jingle jog. If the child is more interested in dabbling, he might like to get his hands into fingerpaints and the six color pots. Than there is instant papiermache . . . instead of the mess there used to be, one just needs to mix the special substance with adhesive for molding. The theatrically inclined child would delight in possessing an entire family of five because this special family consists of five hand puppets.

AT BRANDEIS

The whole family will want to join in the fun of Posie Pitch by Marx. Being outdoors is even more enjoyable when all ages can combine their fun time. Posie Pitch is a great deal like horseshoes, except that the horseshoe has been replaced by colorful plastic posies that are designed to ring the pole.

Boys, and scientific-or-sports-minded girls will look forward to owning one of the new products by Hot Wheels. For the race car enthusiast, Fat Track is just the thing to have. The wider track is made especially for sizzler cars. For the pilot, the new game is Hot Birds, a test of pilot skill. This game uses no batteries or electricity, and the principle is that the operator pilots a plane to hit designated markers.

Remember the player piano and what great fun it was to sit and just listen? Fisher-Price has now designed a child's record player that will play like a player piano.

Summertime means water time, and the ultimate play thing for a child is the Pool Buggy. This battery operated boat is motorized and will support 125 pounds.

AT YOUNGSTOWN

Toy manufacturers are delving into the "learning" toys, all to the advantage of children of all ages.

The Child Guidance toy makers have introduced alphabet school. Participants pick a card and a window automatically opens to reveal the object named on the card. In this manner, the game prompts spelling, association, and pronunciation.

Machines fascinate youngsters, and provide an excellent means of learning. Lil' jolly jet is such a toy — the transparent jet reveals an array of colorful gears and enables the young man — or little lady, to learn how gears work.

Plastic block towers called tot towers teach the small ones color, sizes, and numbers.

Playschool makes a group of cars, a play camper, and dump truck — to name a few — that can be easily taken apart and put back together again. The wooden take-aparts even include people that somehow manage to stay in one piece!

The great outdoors will be taking up much of the childrens time this summer now that school is out. Among the outdoorsy games we found Romper Room's scoop-a-loop where each child has a large scoop to toss a plastic ball back and forth.

Parker Brothers realized that many outdoors type games should also be adaptable to the indoors in such a way that mothers need not worry about broken lamps, etc., etc. The game is called nerf disc and it is a scrunchy foam ring toss.

The bidding has been:

East	South	West	North
1♦	1♠	2♦	3♠
Pass	4♠

West leads a diamond to your king and, when you continue with the ace, South ruffs. Declarer cashes two high trumps, West following suit, and leads the ten of clubs, which you win with the king. What would you play now?

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Notrump. North leads the ten of hearts. How would you play the hand?

♠K5

1. The proper return is a club. If you were to shift to a low heart at this point, it would cost you the contract if declarer had the following hand and played low on the heart return:

♠AK1083 ♥K972 ♦10 ♣1095

But if you returned a club, declarer would be unable to avoid losing two heart tricks and would go down one.

Regardless of the number of clubs South started with, he cannot possibly avoid the loss of two heart tricks if you return a club and he lacks the ace of hearts. In due course your side will score two heart tricks no matter how many discards declarer gets on dummy's clubs.

2. The only problem is how to play the clubs so as to give yourself the best chance to score four tricks in the suit. After winning the heart in dummy, lead the six of clubs and duck if South follows low.

If the six wins, continue with the seven. If the six loses to the jack or queen, win any return and play the king of clubs, in which case the contract becomes certain if North follows suit.

The only time this method of play fails is when North was dealt specifically the singleton jack or queen. If you were to attack clubs by first leading the king or ace, you would be defeated if the next player had either a void or a low singleton. These last cases occur far more often than the case where North has a singleton honor.

FISHING AND FUN

Parents Without Partners engaged in a leisurely Sunday afternoon of fishing on May 23 when the group gathered—reels and all—at Stagecoach Lake for a fishing contest.

Later that evening, for those Parents Without Partners who could not catch fish but maybe could catch all the trumps, bridge games were held at the home of Alice Gacusana.

Abby: the way she behaves

DEAR ABBY: This is a long story, but I need advice. Tom (not his real name) was 17 and I was 15 when we started going steady. We kept getting closer and closer, so what happened just had to happen. Well, it happened one night in a room over their garage. That place became sort of our hideaway until his mother caught us in the act. She called my mother and made a big stink. They made Tom and me break up, and from then on I was watched like a hawk and treated like a criminal.

Pretty soon I started getting calls from the most popular guys at school. I soon found out they wanted only one thing. I had a tooth missing in front so I thought it was kind of funny that the most popular guys in school wanted to date me. Then I found out that Tom had told them I was a pushover.

All the boys I go out with think I have to let them do whatever they want because I have a tooth missing in front. I am going to have a tooth put in on May 24th, then I'm turning over a new leaf and I'll show them they are wrong.

Please tell me, Abby, how does a girl clear her name after it's been dragged in the mud?

MISSOURI GIRL

DEAR GIRL: A girl clears her name the same way she messed it up. By the way she behaves. Don't expect to change your image overnight, but if you behave like a good girl consistently, the word will soon get around. (P.S. There is another valuable lesson to be learned from your experience. Boys talk!)

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Friday

Venus is the planet associated with Taurus and Libra. The number related to this fascinating planet is 6. In astrology Venus depicts relationships with women, has to do with luxury items, income, marriage, special partnerships. Venus, symbolically, is the planet of love. Both Taurus and Libra possess a great capacity for love.

☆ ☆ ☆

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Bring forth creative resources. Romance is featured as you come out of emotional shell. Check investment proposals. You may not be seeing too clearly. Define objectives.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Practical matters dominate. No time for wishful thinking. Base actions on facts, not emotions. Stick to familiar routes. Going too far off path now would prove costly. Consult Capricorn.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Accent on short journeys, contacts with close relatives. One who confides in you deserves full attention, sympathy. Adhere to principles of golden rule. Important task can be completed.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Fresh approach brings financial gain. Don't hang on to outmoded concepts. You can collect valuable data. Pay and receive; take inventory. Stress independence, originality.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Lunar cycle coincides with period when you can be at right place at right time. Accept offers, challenges. Stress personality, health, appearance. Exude optimism. Then you win.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Look behind the scenes. Don't judge by surface indications. Take your time; be versatile but thorough. Visit friend, relative confined due to illness. Aid Sagittarius individual.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Accent on new and old friendships. Fine for making future plans. Concentrate on how best to utilize money from occupation. Learn ins and outs: be wary and aware.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Relations with social, governmental and occupational superiors are spotlighted. Communicate ideas. Put feelings on record. Let others know that you do possess vitality.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Formulate ideas, plans. Get them into proper perspective. Study advertising, publicity potential. Enlarge horizons. Plan ahead for travel. Domestic situation will improve.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You benefit by aiding Taurus individual. Improve service. Don't delegate duties. Employees, others tend to be careless—with your product money. Practical approach succeeds.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Legal, marriage relationships come to fore, require proper handling. Adhere to rules. One in position of authority is taking notes. Do plenty of listening, observing.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Organize efforts. You gain added recognition by perceiving future trends. Utilize experience. Recent past will reveal future cycle. Realize this and proceed accordingly. You will profit.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a dynamic person, an individual thinker. Means you seldom, if ever, follow the crowd. Your greatest chance for success comes when you work for yourself. It is not easy for you to take orders. Change of residence, domestic adjustment is now high on agenda.

Patrol Announces Holiday Traffic Control Measures

State Patrol superintendent, Col. J. E. Kruger, said Thursday all available manpower and traffic control equipment will be in use over the Memorial Day weekend.

Kruger said the steps are being taken to back Gov. J. J. Exon's safe holiday driving campaign.

"The State Patrol will be putting forth every possible effort in enforcement procedures including the use of all available manpower, aircraft, electronic clocking devices for speed control and other selective programs to help make this a death-free weekend," Kruger said.

Animals To Get Money

Columbus, Ohio (AP) — Lillian Schaaf, a 76-year-old widow who had not had a pet for 20 years, left the bulk of her $1-million estate for a home for "friendless animals."

Crackdown Aimed At Illegal Pep Pills

©The New York Times

Washington — The Justice Department moved Thursday to crack down on amphetamine-type stimulants, drugs that are illicitly used by the hundreds of millions of doses in the United States each year.

The department took the first of a series of steps that would set production quotas for amphetamines and methamphetamines — more commonly known as pep pills, speed and bennies — as well as tightening distribution and prescription practices.

The action is the first against these "mood drugs" since the Comprehensive Drug Abuse, Prevention and Control Act became law on May 1, although when the measure was passed by congress last October it did set controls on injectable methamphetamine.

Under Thursday's action, federal controls that have only applied to the opiate class of drugs such as opium, morphine and methadone, would also be applied to amphetamines.

Yet, shortly after the restrictions were announced, two Democratic congressman who have sought tighter drug control laws complained that the Justice Department had not gone far enough in acting against the drugs and said that loopholes still remained for amphetamine abuse.

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri and Rep. Claude Pepper of Florida said that two major types of amphetamines, phenmetrazine and methylphenidate — among the most widely prescribed drugs in the country — were conspicuously omitted from the Justice Department action, even though they have been banned in such countries as Sweden and Japan because of widespread abuse.

Under the action of the Justice Department the amphetamines would be classed in that group of drugs that have a potential for "severe psychological dependence" if they are abused with "serious danger to the individual." Amphetamines formerly were classed as being only a "moderate" danger to the illicit user.

Careless Carter Increases Cost

University Park, Pa. (UPI) — Shoppers leaving shopping carts in parking lots are contributing to inflation, according to a Penn State University economist.

Harold E. Neigh, a consumer economics specialist, says the carts, which cost stores between $35 and $50, are often damaged or stolen. Neigh says stores sometimes raise food prices to recover the loss.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROBLEMS . . . discussed by Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf at Conference on Cities in Indianapolis.

Lindsay Says 25 Cities Need 'Special Powers'

©The New York Times

Indianapolis — Mayor John V. Lindsay proposed Thursday night that the federal government charter at least 25 "national cities" which would be granted special powers on matters of trade, finance and social welfare and would occupy a unique place in the federal system.

Such action, Lindsay said, would free the nation's largest cities from hostile state governments, lift the "inequitable" burdens they are now forced to carry and formalize federal responsibility for large scale urban development.

The mayor made the proposal in a speech before a special International Conference on Cities sponsored by the Nixon Administration for members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Several hundred delegates are attending in an effort to find ways to make the cities more livable.

Lindsay's proposal was one of the few fresh ideas put before the conference in two and a half days of discussions, but it came with strong overtones of New York politics. The mayor has been involved in a particularly bitter budget fight with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and the New York Legislature. He charged Wednesday that not only were state leaders in Albany whittling away on urgent city needs, but he had been cut completely out of the discussions

Nevertheless, the Lindsay proposal could have wide appeal for large cities across the country, which complain they are going bankrupt under a federal system that leaves them at the mercy of unresponsive state governments and a federal government that does not recognize their special needs.

"It is time we rethought the role of these cities," Lindsay said. "It is time for us to recognize they are 'national cities' with a unique role to play in our national life and deserving a prominent status in our political structure."

The federal government, he said, "should charter a number of 'national cities' with a grant of special powers. Under their charter 'national cities' could deal directly with Washington on matters of trade, finance and social welfare. They could receive broader financial support in order to insure functions of national responsibility. They could have independent authority on issues of local concern and urban development."

9 Labor Union Counselors Are Honored

A banquet was held Thursday to honor nine Lincoln labor union members who have completed union counselor training offered for the first time this spring by Lincoln Community Services.

"These people have become acquainted with the various health and welfare agencies in our community and now will be able to offer assistance to their fellow workers in need of these services," said Leonard Jennings, director of the program.

The training course was jointly sponsored by Lincoln Community Services and the Lincoln Central Labor Union.

Keynote speaker at the banquet was George J. Dooley, an AFL-CIO community service staff member from New York.

Those completing the course were Lloyd Worley and Walter Anderson, United Rubber Workers Local 286; Warner Ochsner and Donald Milke, Allied Industrial Workers Local 907; Robert Biel, Joyce Paul and Delone Rice, Communication Workers Local 7470; Donald Wildrick, Retail Clerks Union Local 1015, and Robert Lehl, Pressman's Union Local 106.

Planning OKd On Watershed For Southeast

Washington (AP) —Nebraska members of Congress said the Soil Conservation Service has granted authority to the Johnson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Richardson County Soil and Water Conservation Districts to proceed with planning on the 47,000-acre long Branch watershed project.

Preliminary plans call for 11 water-retarding dams and one recreational area in the project.

If plans are approved, the project is expected to cost $2.7 million ultimately. Of that amount, $1.1 million would be contributed by the federal government and $1.6 million by state and local governments.

Rosen Sentenced To 1-3 Year Term In Check Scheme

Bruce L. Rosen, 40, also known as William DeGina of Philadelphia, Pa., has been sentenced to a term of from one to three years in the Nebraska Penal Complex by Lancaster District Judge William Hastings.

Rosen, who had originally pleaded innocent to the felony charge of obtaining money by false pretenses, changed his plea to guilty earlier this month.

He and two other men had been charged in connection with a May, 1969, check-cashing scheme involving the theft of some company checks, use of a check protector, and then cashing them at local banks.

Anthony F. Romano, 34, of Newark, N.J., was sentenced to a two to four-year term in connection with the incident, while the third man, Henry F. Bucci, 37, of North Tarrytown, N.Y., was placed on probation for two years.

Drug Charges Face 7 After Trailer Raid

Minden (AP) — Six men and one woman were arraigned before Kearney County Judge Margaret Carney Thursday on drug charges stemming from a raid on a trailer, located at a trailer court about five miles south of Kearney.

All seven were charged with possession of narcotics, possession of stimulant and-or depressant drugs and possession of cannabis, felony

Bonds of $5,000 each were set on Dan J. Smith, 21, who lived in the trailer, and Curt A. Going, 19, who was living in the trailer, but who listed his home as Lyons, Neb.

Bonds of $3,000 each were set on the others: Nancy Lee Lane, 20; Thomas Saulsbury, 25, and Timothy F. Baer, 21, all of Kearney; Scott N. Hadley, 22, and Joseph R. Houstie, 22, both of Aurora. Judge Carney scheduled preliminary hearings for the group June 17 and 18.

The seven were picked up in a raid by the Kearney County sheriff's office and the criminal investigation division of the State Patrol Wednesday night.

Want a thick green lawn without dandelions?

Then feed it as you weed it!

All you do is spread Scotts PLUS-2 on your lawn. It gets rid of dandelions, easily and surely. Makes them curl up and disappear, root and all. And not just dandelions. PLUS-2 also clears out plantain, buckhorn, chickweed, clover and many other common lawn weeds.

Fertilizes too. When the weeds are gone you'll notice that the lawn is greener and thicker than before. That's because every bag of PLUS-2 also contains a full feeding of Turf Builder, which helps your grass fill in where the weeds used to be.

When to use. You can spread PLUS-2 anytime after dandelions come in bloom. You won't see any sudden results. But one day you'll realize the weeds have simply vanished. And your lawn is thicker and greener. It's as easy as that.

Yellow grass?
– even though you fertilize?

It's likely caused by iron deficiency. Our anemic soils are frequently responsible for the "yellows," even when the grass is fed regularly. And the color won't improve, no matter how much you fertilize, until the iron deficiency is corrected.
That's where Scotts new IRON-S comes in. It supplies the plant-available iron that is necessary for good green color. Iron-S is not a substitute for fertilizier. It is an iron supplement that, when used with fertilizer, helps yellowing grass turn green again. See for yourself — this weekend.

Crackdown Aimed At Illegal Pep Pills

©The New York Times

Washington — The Justice Department moved Thursday to crack down on amphetamine-type stimulants, drugs that are illicitly used by the hundreds of millions of doses in the United States each year.

The department took the first of a series of steps that would set production quotas for amphetamines and methamphetamines — more commonly known as pep pills, speed and bennies — as well as tightening distribution and prescription practices.

The action is the first against these "mood drugs" since the Comprehensive Drug Abuse, Prevention and Control Act became law on May 1, although when the measure was passed by congress last October it did set controls on injectable methamphetamine.

Under Thursday's action, federal controls that have only applied to the opiate class of drugs such as opium, morphine and methadone, would also be applied to amphetamines.

Yet, shortly after the restrictions were announced, two Democratic congressman who have sought tighter drug control laws complained that the Justice Department had not gone far enough in acting against the drugs and said that loopholes still remained for amphetamine abuse.

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri and Rep. Claude Pepper of Florida said that two major types of amphetamines, phenmetrazine and methylphenidate — among the most widely prescribed drugs in the country — were conspicuously omitted from the Justice Department action, even though they have been banned in such countries as Sweden and Japan because of widespread abuse.

Under the action of the Justice Department the amphetamines would be classed in that group of drugs that have a potential for "severe psychological dependence" if they are abused with "serious danger to the individual." Amphetamines formerly were classed as being only a "moderate" danger to the illicit user.

Careless Carter Increases Cost

University Park, Pa. (UPI) — Shoppers leaving shopping carts in parking lots are contributing to inflation, according to a Penn State University economist.

Harold E. Neigh, a consumer economics specialist, says the carts, which cost stores between $35 and $50, are often damaged or stolen. Neigh says stores sometimes raise food prices to recover the loss.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROBLEMS . . . discussed by Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf at Conference on Cities in Indianapolis.

Lindsay Says 25 Cities Need 'Special Powers'

©The New York Times

Indianapolis — Mayor John V. Lindsay proposed Thursday night that the federal government charter at least 25 "national cities" which would be granted special powers on matters of trade, finance and social welfare and would occupy a unique place in the federal system.

Such action, Lindsay said, would free the nation's largest cities from hostile state governments, lift the "inequitable" burdens they are now forced to carry and formalize federal responsibility for large scale urban development.

The mayor made the proposal in a speech before a special International Conference on Cities sponsored by the Nixon Administration for members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Several hundred delegates are attending in an effort to find ways to make the cities more livable.

Lindsay's proposal was one of the few fresh ideas put before the conference in two and a half days of discussions, but it came with strong overtones of New York politics. The mayor has been involved in a particularly bitter budget fight with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and the New York Legislature. He charged Wednesday that not only were state leaders in Albany whittling away on urgent city needs, but he had been cut completely out of the discussions

Nevertheless, the Lindsay proposal could have wide appeal for large cities across the country, which complain they are going bankrupt under a federal system that leaves them at the mercy of unresponsive state governments and a federal government that does not recognize their special needs.

"It is time we rethought the role of these cities," Lindsay said. "It is time for us to recognize they are 'national cities' with a unique role to play in our national life and deserving a prominent status in our political structure."

The federal government, he said, "should charter a number of 'national cities' with a grant of special powers. Under their charter 'national cities' could deal directly with Washington on matters of trade, finance and social welfare. They could receive broader financial support in order to insure functions of national responsibility. They could have independent authority on issues of local concern and urban development."

Planning OKd On Watershed For Southeast

Washington (AP) —Nebraska members of Congress said the Soil Conservation Service has granted authority to the Johnson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Richardson County Soil and Water Conservation Districts to proceed with planning on the 47,000-acre long Branch watershed project.

Preliminary plans call for 11 water-retarding dams and one recreational area in the project.

If plans are approved, the project is expected to cost $2.7 million ultimately. Of that amount, $1.1 million would be contributed by the federal government and $1.6 million by state and local governments.

Rosen Sentenced To 1-3 Year Term In Check Scheme

Bruce L. Rosen, 40, also known as William DeGina of Philadelphia, Pa., has been sentenced to a term of from one to three years in the Nebraska Penal Complex by Lancaster District Judge William Hastings.

Rosen, who had originally pleaded innocent to the felony charge of obtaining money by false pretenses, changed his plea to guilty earlier this month.

He and two other men had been charged in connection with a May, 1969, check-cashing scheme involving the theft of some company checks, use of a check protector, and then cashing them at local banks.

Anthony F. Romano, 34, of Newark, N.J., was sentenced to a two to four-year term in connection with the incident, while the third man, Henry F. Bucci, 37, of North Tarrytown, N.Y., was placed on probation for two years.

9 Labor Union Counselors Are Honored

A banquet was held Thursday to honor nine Lincoln labor union members who have completed union counselor training offered for the first time this spring by Lincoln Community Services.

"These people have become acquainted with the various health and welfare agencies in our community and now will be able to offer assistance to their fellow workers in need of these services," said Leonard Jennings, director of the program.

The training course was jointly sponsored by Lincoln Community Services and the Lincoln Central Labor Union.

Keynote speaker at the banquet was George J. Dooley, an AFL-CIO community service staff member from New York.

Those completing the course were Lloyd Worley and Walter Anderson, United Rubber Workers Local 286; Warner Ochsner and Donald Milke, Allied Industrial Workers Local 907; Robert Biel, Joyce Paul and Delone Rice, Communication Workers Local 7470; Donald Wildrick, Retail Clerks Union Local 1015, and Robert Lehl, Pressman's Union Local 106.

Drug Charges Face 7 After Trailer Raid

Minden (AP) — Six men and one woman were arraigned before Kearney County Judge Margaret Carney Thursday on drug charges stemming from a raid on a trailer, located at a trailer court about five miles south of Kearney.

All seven were charged with possession of narcotics, possession of stimulant and-or depressant drugs and possession of cannabis, felony

Bonds of $5,000 each were set on Dan J. Smith, 21, who lived in the trailer, and Curt A. Going, 19, who was living in the trailer, but who listed his home as Lyons, Neb.

Bonds of $3,000 each were set on the others: Nancy Lee Lane, 20; Thomas Saulsbury, 25, and Timothy F. Baer, 21, all of Kearney; Scott N. Hadley, 22, and Joseph R. Houstie, 22, both of Aurora. Judge Carney scheduled preliminary hearings for the group June 17 and 18.

Want a thick green lawn without dandelions?

Then feed it as you weed it!

All you do is spread Scotts PLUS-2 on your lawn. It gets rid of dandelions, easily and surely. Makes them curl up and disappear, root and all. And not just dandelions. PLUS-2 also clears out plantain, buckhorn, chickweed, clover and many other common lawn weeds.

Fertilizes too. When the weeds are gone you'll notice that the lawn is greener and thicker than before. That's because every bag of PLUS-2 also contains a full feeding of Turf Builder, which helps your grass fill in where the weeds used to be.

When to use. You can spread PLUS-2 anytime after dandelions come in bloom. You won't see any sudden results. But one day you'll realize the weeds have simply vanished. And your lawn is thicker and greener. It's as easy as that.

Yellow grass?
- even though you fertilize?

It's likely caused by iron deficiency. Our anemic soils are frequently responsible for the "yellows," even when the grass is fed regularly. And the color won't improve, no matter how much you fertilize, until the iron deficiency is corrected.
That's where Scotts new IRON-S comes in. It supplies the plant-available iron that is necessary for good green color. Iron-S is not a substitute for fertilizier. It is an iron supplement that, when used with fertilizer, helps yellowing grass turn green again. See for yourself — this weekend.

'Drunkard' Gets Rousing Reception As Mellerdrammer Season Opens

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Though summer may be just 'round the corner, the season of popcorn-throwing, hisses and boos is already here!

And it's all at the ninth session of The Gas Light Mellerdrammers, which opened this week to a rousing reception from patrons of the old-time theatre.

Opening the season is "The Drunkard (or the Fallen Saved)" the story of a young man turned bad, who is reunited with his "beloved" in a heart-rending story of wicked men and chaste ladies.

On hand Thursday was a lively audience, a vital necessity to the melodrama stage, which depends on audience participation (shades of the avante-garde theatre) for its success.

And a rousing success it was, as the villain was showered with boos and popcorn, and faked sighs greeted the appearance of the lovely heroin.

Director John R. Wilson pulled together a competent cast for the production, which was aided by the able key-plunking of Barry Hagen and the worthy house-managering of Scott Young (alias the "Policeman" of the play).

Heading the cast of 16 characters was Bruce Dillman as Edward Middleton, the innocent young man turned drunkard; Brien Hendrickson, as the villainous Lawyer Cribbs; Ronaele Tridle as Middleton's wife Mary, and Genette Gibson as their daughter Julia.

The production was set in the remodeled Gas Light, which has come up with a larger arena and stage to replace the former oblong theatre-setting.

Missing, unfortunately, in the new setting are the black walls, the up-raised piano and swinging doors that characterized the Gas Light of years' past.

And with it are gone the crowded conditions that somehow helped enliven former productions. Perhaps further remodeling is in the future, and with it a restored sense of the old theatre house.

But even without that, the season's first production has to rate among the Mellerdrammers' finest — and audience and cast were able to overcome the formality to enjoy the evening.

The initial production indicates good things to come this summer when warm nights (wish they were here!) bring people in for the shows.

The "Drunkard" will continue through June 19.

NU, Minnesota U Students To Go On Archeological Dig

Early in June, a group of students will assemble in Slayton, Minn., for training in archeological research under the direction of Dr. Dale R. Henning, assistant professor of anthropology at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

This project is jointly sponsored by the University of Minnesota and the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. The students participating are enrolled in those two institutions.

Assisting Henning will be Mrs. Henning, hwo will direct laboratory processing and analysis; Roye D. Lindsay, who will be field excavation supervisor, and Gary Hudak, who will be in charge of archeological site survey and testing. Mrs. Karen Hunt will serve as cook. Approximately 18 students will be registered for the course.

The buildings at the Murray County Fair Grounds will serve as field and laboratory headquarters from early in June until mid-July, when the session will end.

The group will be studying prehistoric settlement and subsistence patterns of peoples who occupied southern Minnesota about 1000 years ago. These studies will involve some site excavations and the analysis of previously excavated materials and a number of personal collections. A number of new recovery techniques will be tested in the course of this training session.

Mrs. Moje Gets Assessor's Post

Columbus (UPI) — Mrs. Milton Moje has been appointed Platte County assessor, succeeding the late Ray Hauser.

Named deputy assessor was Mrs. Richard Engelmann.

The County Board of Supervisors recently named Leo A. Synovec of Pierce to the assessor's position but he declined after learning he would have to move to Platte County immediately to qualify for the job.

CLAY SHAW

No Charges Against Shaw

New Orleans (AP) — A federal judge issued a permanent injunction Thursday forbidding Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison from prosecuting Clay Shaw on a charge that he lied to the jury which acquitted him of conspiracy in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

U.S. District Judge Herbert W. Christenberry's 21-page ruling said Garrison's perjury charge was "brought in bad faith and that such bad faith constitutes irreparable injury, which is great and immediate."

"I am delighted," said Shaw, a 57-year-old retired New Orleans businessman. "It's wonderful."

City, County Officials Favor Joint Purchasing And Personnel Efforts

City and county government representatives in meeting with the League of Women Voters Thursday indicated that efforts are going to be made toward combining areas of county purchasing and personnel with that of the city.

On questioning from League members on possibilities for more cooperation between city and county governmental functions, City Councilwoman Helen Boosalis noted that City Finance Director James Mallon had said that combining the county purchasing functions with that of the city would be no problem and would only necessitate the addition of one girl in that office.

She said that she assumed that personnel would involve little more.

County Commissioner William Grossman uaid that the county had strongly considered hiring a purchasing agent but that in visiting with experts it was discovered that the addition of such a person to handle county purchasing would be a greater expenditure than the estimated 2% savings in purchasing costs.

However, he said that county intends to work with the city in possibly combining the purchasing functions of both governmental bodies.

Former City Councilman W. H. "Bill" Davidson said he felt that permissive legislation should be sought whereby the county and city governments as they exist might be dissolved and combined into one "good" form of government for the entire county if the voters so desire.

Mrs. Boosalis said she felt that efforts should be made to combine more and more functions of city and county government before the public is ready for judgment of the pros and cons of such a major change.

She indicated that this would require considerable education of the public and that such a change can't be accomplished in a short time.

Interest Wanes In Juke Boxes

Rome (UPI) — Juke boxes are losing favor in Italy, according to an industry survey. Only 7% of Italy's 24,000 juke boxes brought earnings of more than $800 each in 1969, compared with 13% in 1968.

The number of juke boxes losing money after taxes and royalties rose from 34 to 40%.

It Bodes No Good

Perth, Australia (AP) — Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt, U. S. chief of naval operations, said that the presence of the Soviet navy in the Indian Ocean boded no good for the free world.

'Drunkard' Gets Rousing Reception As Mellerdrammer Season Opens

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

Though summer may be just 'round the corner, the season of popcorn-throwing, hisses and boos is already here!

And it's all at the ninth session of The Gas Light Mellerdrammers, which opened this week to a rousing reception from patrons of the old-time theatre.

Opening the season is "The Drunkard (or the Fallen Saved)" the story of a young man turned bad, who is reunited with his "beloved" in a heart-rending story of wicked men and chaste ladies.

On hand Thursday was a lively audience, a vital necessity to the melodrama stage, which depends on audience participation (shades of the avante-garde theatre) for its success.

And a rousing success it was, as the villain was showered with boos and popcorn, and faked sighs greeted the appearance of the lovely heroin.

Director John R. Wilson pulled together a competent cast for the production, which was aided by the able key-plunking of Barry Hagen and the worthy house-managering of Scott Young (alias the "Policeman" of the play).

Heading the cast of 16 characters was Bruce Dillman as Edward Middleton, the innocent young man turned drunkard; Brien Hendrickson, as the villainous Lawyer Cribbs; Ronaele Tridle as Middleton's wife Mary, and Genette Gibson as their daughter Julia.

The production was set in the remodeled Gas Light, which has come up with a larger arena and stage to replace the former oblong theatre-setting.

Missing, unfortunately, in the new setting are the black walls, the up-raised piano and swinging doors that characterized the Gas Light of years' past.

And with it are gone the crowded conditions that somehow helped enliven former productions. Perhaps further remodeling is in the future, and with it a restored sense of the old theatre house.

But even without that, the season's first production has to rate among the Mellerdrammers' finest — and audience and cast were able to overcome the formality to enjoy the evening.

The initial production indicates good things to come this summer when warm nights (wish they were here!) bring people in for the shows.

The "Drunkard" will continue through June 19.

If the number of letters is six or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. SPORT SIGNALS

Sports Editor, The Star

Doesn't Accept Compliment

Omaha — Ak-Sar-Ben official Robert Bates calls Penny Gardner "the best female jockey in America," but it's a compliment the 19-year-old jockette doesn't appreciate.

The thing that irks her about it is that Penny doesn't want to just be rated with other female jockeys; she wants to be rated right along with the boys.

Ak-Sar-Ben racing fans have seen little of Penny since she rarely gets a call from anyone other than Boyd Boggess, who has her under contract to ride mounts under his care.

But it hasn't always been that way.

"I was riding full cards at Turf Paradise before I came here," she points out, "And last summer at Centennial, I was getting five or six mounts per day."

In one of her infrequent appearances in the saddle here, she rode Goyama's Star to one of the biggest payoffs of the meeting, a $50-plus payoff.

A Typical Problem

Although she's not getting to see nearly as much action as she'd like to, Penny refuses to become discouraged and doesn't think the lack of action is just because she's a girl.

"Having trouble getting mounts is true of most anyone, who is new in an area," she philosophizes, "Because the trainers don't know you."

While Boggess was primarily responsible for her being in Omaha, she points out that she was encouraged to come here by others, also.

"I was doing well at Turf Paradise and some of the riders and trainers, who had been at Ak-Sar-Ben before, encouraged me to come here," she explains.

While Penny admits that she doesn't like to be referred to as the "best female jockey in America," she also has no elusions of bidding for the title of "best jockey, male-or-female" quite yet.

"I was the leading apprentice at Turf Paradise and my goal at present is to be the leading apprentice wherever I'm riding," she says, realistically.

Most Embarrassing Moment

While her greatest successes in a brief riding career have come at Turf Paradise, her most embarrassing moment also came at that Phoenix track.

"As we were coming down the stretch in a race this spring, my pants came unsnapped," she recalls. "I won the race which meant everyone would be watching as we came back to the winner's circle.

"Fortunately, I was able to get them snapped up again before we got back to the front of the grandstand where I had to dismount."

Becoming a jockey had nothing to do with breaking any sex barriers or getting national publicity for Penny.

"From the time I was a little girl, when I would see my brother, Jerry, riding, I wanted to be a jockey," she recalls. "That was before girls had broken the barrier at major tracks, but I never gave any thought to not being able to ride.

"I guess I'm fortunate that the sex barrier was broken, but I guess when I was growing up, I never worried about that. I don't ever remember even thinking about that problem."

There's a couple of other things that Penny hasn't given any thought to.

"I've never thought about quitting," she points out, "And I've never thought about getting married. But if I did get married, I wouldn't quit riding. My husband would have to understand that."

Three and four years ago, a female jockey at a track was an attention-getter; now they go practically unnoticed. Penny's primary hope now is for more attention — from trainers for her riding services.

Kathryn's Doll To Carry Top Weight Today

. . . DOUBLE WINNER THIS YEAR FACES EIGHT RIVALS IN QUEEN'S HANDICAP

By RANDY EICKHOFF
Star Sports Writer

Omaha — Sporting a record of two wins and one show finish in five starts for 1971, Kathryn's Doll will try to add another win to her credit at Ak-Sar-Ben today by capturing the $15,000-added Queen's Handicap.

The 6-year-old mare by Lurullah out of Miss Dundee will be after her second straight victory when she squares off against the field of nine which includes Gold Rags, a M. H. Van Berg Stable entry along with Thirty Dashes.

Gold Rags will carry 120 pounds in the six furlong race — eight less than top-weighted Kathryn's Doll.

Bold Accent, with Fred Ecoffey slated for the irons, will be out to avenge a May 1 loss to Kathryn's Doll and boost her record another notch.

The 6-year-old mare currently holds four wins and two places out of six starts. In her last outing, Bold Accent ran second to Navashane during the fourth race on last Saturday's card.

The Jack Van Berg-trained Gold Rags finished second in her last Ak-Sar-Ben outing when she finished 1½ lengths behind stablemate Purchaser...

First Cue, a 4-year-old filly by First Balcony, was beaten by Kathryn's Doll last Saturday over six furlongs, but can't be counted out of the race since she has finished in the money four times out of the race since she has finished in the money four times out of her last nine starts.

Thirty Dashes, the second half of the Van Berg entry, finished out of the money in her last start during Saturday's sixth race won by Reason To Pat. Thirty Dashes sports a record of two wins and one place out of 11 starts this year.

The rest of field, no strangers to Ak-Sar-Ben bettors, includes Quilla Sue, Swiss Policy, Chasse Mile and Sonny's Delight.

INDY SPLIT RUMORED

. . . Granatelli, Andretti Reported To Break

Indianapolis, Ind. (AP) — Reports of an impending break between 1969 winner, Mario Andretti, and his car owner, millionaire Andy Granatelli, rumbled through the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Thursday just two days before the 55th running of the 500-mile race.

The reports were so strong that Granatelli aides chose to deny them one by one, Andretti would not comment at all.

But sources close to the team said Granatelli's championship racing team was for sale and that the top prospective buyer was Andretti himself, with Texas oil man John Mecom Jr. standing in the wings.

The rumors received added impetus Wednesday after Francis E. McNamara, who designed the cars Andretti has driven the last two years filed suit in an Indianapolis court charging that Granatelli had not paid him $30,000 in outstanding bills.

Granatelli, who heads the STP Corp., denied the charges. McNamara obtained an injunction tying up at least a part of the prize money Granatelli's two cars may win in Saturday's $1 million race.

"That the suit has to be a blow to Andretti's pride," said a source close to the Nazareth, Pa., driver who asked that his name not be used. "And particularly with the race coming up and with a good chance for him to win."

Andretti, who is known to have been dissatisfied with his 1970 and 1971 cars built by McNamara under contract from Granatelli, will start Saturday from the outside of the third row —his worst start in years. He qualified at 172.612 miles per hour, compared with Peter Revson's pole speed of 178.696 m.p.h.

The Italian-born Andretti almost didn't make last year's race. He crashed one of the McNamara Fords in practice a few days before the first round of qualifying. Though burned severely about the face, he went to a backup car, a Hawk-Ford built by his former chief mechanic, Clint Brawner and qualified eighth in the order. He finished sixth.

The 31-year-old Andretti, who won two national driving titles before hooking up with Granatelli in 1969, brought the oil-additive king his first triumph at Indianapolis that year.

Ziegler Gets Lead In Memphis Classic

Memphis, Tenn. (AP) — Larry Ziegler matched the best round on the pro tour this year with a 62 and took the first-round lead in the $175,000 Danny Thomas Memphis Golf Classic Thursday.

The career-best effort by the big, hard-hitting blond gave him a two-stroke lead over the always dangerous Frank Beard. The hot-putting Beard needed only 26 strokes from the green on his way to a 64.

Lee Trevino and Chi Chi Rodriguez both had 66 on the 6,466-yard, par 70 Colonial Country Club course, one of the shortest layouts the pros play all year.

Deane Beman headed a group of four tied at 67. The others are Jim Colbert, Mike Reasor and Jerry Heard.

Gene Littler, winner of last week's Colonial National Invitation, topped a big group at 68.

While most of the tourists found the short, flat layout to their liking, Dave Hill had his troubles. Hill, winner of this tournament three of the last four years, could manage only a 71 and was far back in the pack.

Billy Casper, one of the pre-tournament favorites, had a 69, seven strokes off Ziegler's blistering pace. Pro golf's Big Three, Arnold Palmer Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, are not competing.

The 30-year-old Ziegler, in his sixth year on the tour, had six birdies and an eagle three in the round that left him leading the pack in the chase for the $35,000 first prize.

Beard, who won the New Orleans Open a month ago and has collected about $74,000 this season had seven birdies and one bogey as he recorded 10 one-putt greens.

"I hadn't been putting well for the last couple of weeks," he said, "but I played in a pro-am Monday and did a lot of practicing. I think I found something."

ISU Selects McCullough As New Athletic Director

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Officials of Iowa State University here announced Thursday evening that the Athletic Council has chosen Lou McCullough, 46, to be ISU's new athletic director.

McCullough, former ISU assistant football coach and currently associate football coach at Ohio State University, succeeds Clay Stapleton, who left ISU to accept the top sports job at Florida State University.

In announcing McCullough's selection, Prof. Robert C. Fellinger, Athletic Council chairman, said, "Lou is a man of tremendous ability and drive. He meets all the requirements the council established when it began the search for a director."

Fellinger said the council was "enthusiastic" in recommending McCullough.

Both at Iowa State and Ohio State McCullough earned a reputation as an outstanding recruiter and coach. He and Stapleton had often coached together, at Iowa State from 1958-62, and McCullough and Stapleton were both assistant coaches on the football staff at Wofford College and the University of Wyoming prior to those years.

LOU MCCULLOUGH

When he learned of his selection, the new athletic director said, "I am extremely pleased to be coming back to Iowa State. I have a great deal of admiration for the people of Iowa and for the supporters of the Iowa State program.

"The athletic potential at Iowa State is greater now than it ever has been," he observed. "We have outstanding coaches in all sports, and that was an important factor in my decision."

Lively, Cornish Sister Team For Win

. . . AK FEATURE TAKEN BY THREE-YEAR-OLD FILLY

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Omaha — J. L. Lively and Cornish Sister should go in business together since they've spent so much time together.

Cornish Sister, who has been ridden by Lively in every race for her owners Hoss Inman and Bud Ogdon of Lamar, Colo., again found Lively's instructions to her liking Thursday at Ak-Sar-Ben.

Lively guided the 3-year-old filly to a one-length victory in the first running of the $10,950 Princess Stakes over Miss Spy Song and picked up her third triumph in six starts this year. But Ak-Sar-Ben's leading jockey knows Cornish Sister — almost as well as he knows Miss Spy Song.

"Cornish Sister beat her (Miss Spy Song) once last year at Denver" Lively said. "So I really wasn't worried about her."

Lively said he kept Cornish Sister off the pace until he asked for that something extra at the top of the stretch and Cornish Sister responded with a driving-win.

"I just laid off the pace and when the pack was close enough I ask her to move," he said, "I just let the others come to us."

In earning $6,022.50 for her owners, Cornish Sister returned $14.80, $5.40 and $3.20 while Miss Spy Song, in scoring her third straight second-place showing here, earning $2,080.50 for owners Rex Ekwall and Don Clugston and paid $3.40 and $2.60. Rulers Mistress, who has run at Churchill Downs, Hialeah Gulfstream Park this year, showed for $2.60.

Inman said Lively has ridden for him for three years and he seldom leaves any instructions with his rider.

"I never tell him anything about a race because it might come out differently and then we'll be in trouble," said Inman.

Inman said he and Fayette Farm bred the filly and then she was both sold and bought back at a Keenland sales auction and he and Ogdon have been more than satisfied with their investment which has earned $39,854.50.

Cornish Sister broke forth and then watched as Rulers Mistress, Miss Spy Song and Capetown struggled for the lead until the stretch when Cornish Sister skipped past the trio into first place. She toured the six furlongs in 1:11.

In other highlights, T. V. Smith moved into the trainers' lead passing Jack Van Berg by two points and Don Von Hemel by three points. Smith saddled Can-He-Scoot (winner of the eighth) while Van Berg was shut out and Von Hemel saddled Miss Spy Song and Lizabeth L. (third in the fourth).

Doesn't Accept Compliment

Omaha — Ak-Sar-Ben official Robert Bates calls Penny Gardner "the best female jockey in America," but it's a compliment the 19-year-old jockette doesn't appreciate.

The thing that irks her about it is that Penny doesn't want to just be rated with other female jockeys; she wants to be rated right along with the boys.

Ak-Sar-Ben racing fans have seen little of Penny since she rarely gets a call from anyone other than Boyd Boggess, who has her under contract to ride mounts under his care.

But it hasn't always been that way.

"I was riding full cards at Turf Paradise before I came here," she points out, "And last summer at Centennial, I was getting five or six mounts per day."

In one of her infrequent appearances in the saddle here, she rode Goyama's Star to one of the biggest payoffs of the meeting, a $50-plus payoff.

A Typical Problem

Although she's not getting to see nearly as much action as she'd like to, Penny refuses to become discouraged and doesn't think the lack of action is just because she's a girl.

"Having trouble getting mounts is true of most anyone, who is new in an area," she philosophizes, "Because the trainers don't know you."

While Boggess was primarily responsible for her being in Omaha, she points out that she was encouraged to come here by others, also.

"I was doing well at Turf Paradise and some of the riders and trainers, who had been at Ak-Sar-Ben before, encouraged me to come here," she explains.

While Penny admits that she doesn't like to be referred to as the "best female jockey in America," she also has no elusions of bidding for the title of "best jockey, male-or-female" quite yet.

"I was the leading apprentice at Turf Paradise and my goal at present is to be the leading apprentice wherever I'm riding," she says, realistically.

Most Embarrassing Moment

While her greatest successes in a brief riding career have come at Turf Paradise, her most embarrassing moment also came at that Phoenix track.

"As we were coming down the stretch in a race this spring, my pants came unsnapped," she recalls. "I won the race which meant everyone would be watching as we came back to the winner's circle.

"Fortunately, I was able to get them snapped up again before we got back to the front of the grandstand where I had to dismount."

Becoming a jockey had nothing to do with breaking any sex barriers or getting national publicity for Penny.

"From the time I was a little girl, when I would see my brother, Jerry, riding, I wanted to be a jockey," she recalls. "That was before girls had broken the barrier at major tracks, but I never gave any thought to not being able to ride.

"I guess I'm fortunate that the sex barrier was broken, but I guess when I was growing up, I never worried about that. I don't ever remember even thinking about that problem."

There's a couple of other things that Penny hasn't given any thought to.

"I've never thought about quitting." she points out, "And I've never thought about getting married. But if I did get married, I wouldn't quit riding. My husband would have to understand that."

Three and four years ago, a female jockey at a track was an attention-getter; now they go practically unnoticed. Penny's primary hope now is for more attention — from trainers for her riding services.

Kathryn's Doll To Carry Top Weight Today

. . . DOUBLE WINNER THIS YEAR FACES EIGHT RIVALS IN QUEEN'S HANDICAP

By RANDY EICKHOFF
Star Sports Writer

Omaha — Sporting a record of two wins and one show finish in five starts for 1971, Kathryn's Doll will try to add another win to her credit at Ak-Sar-Ben today by capturing the $15,000-added Queen's Handicap.

The 6-year-old mare by Lurullah out of Miss Dundee will be after her second straight victory when she squares off against the field of nine which includes Gold Rags, a M. H. Van Berg Stable entry along with Thirty Dashes.

Gold Rags will carry 120 pounds in the six furlong race — eight less than top-weighted Kathryn's Doll.

Bold Accent, with Fred Ecoffey slated for the irons, will be out to avenge a May 1 loss to Kathryn's Doll and boost her record another notch.

The 6-year-old mare currently holds four wins and two places out of six starts. In her last outing, Bold Accent ran second to Navashane during the fourth race on last Saturday's card.

The Jack Van Berg-trained Gold Rags finished second in her last Ak-Sar-Ben outing when she finished 1½ lengths behind stablemate Purchaser…

First Cue, a 4-year-old filly by First Balcony, was beaten by Kathryn's Doll last Saturday over six furlongs, but can't be counted out of the race since she has finished in the money four times out of the race since she has finished in the money four times out of her last nine starts.

Thirty Dashes, the second half of the Van Berg entry, finished out of the money in her last start during Saturday's sixth race won by Reason To Pat. Thirty Dashes sports a record of two wins and one place out of 11 starts this year.

The rest of field, no strangers to Ak-Sar-Ben bettors, includes Quilla Sue, Swiss Policy, Chasse Mile and Sonny's Delight.

INDY SPLIT RUMORED

. . . Granatelli, Andretti Reported To Break

Indianapolis, Ind. (AP) — Reports of an impending break between 1969 winner, Mario Andretti, and his car owner, millionaire Andy Granatelli, rumbled through the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Thursday just two days before the 55th running of the 500-mile race.

The reports were so strong that Granatelli aides chose to deny them one by one, Andretti would not comment at all.

But sources close to the team said Granatelli's championship racing team was for sale and that the top prospective buyer was Andretti himself, with Texas oil man John Mecom Jr. standing in the wings.

The rumors received added impetus Wednesday after Francis E. McNamara, who designed the cars Andretti has driven the last two years filed suit in an Indianapolis court charging that Granatelli had not paid him $30,000 in outstanding bills.

Granatelli, who heads the STP Corp., denied the charges. McNamara obtained an injunction tying up at least a part of the prize money Granatelli's two cars may win in Saturday's $1 million race.

"That the suit has to be a blow to Andretti's pride," said a source close to the Nazareth, Pa., driver who asked that his name not be used. "And particularly with the race coming up and with a good chance for him to win."

Andretti, who is known to have been dissatisfied with his 1970 and 1971 cars built by McNamara under contract from Granatelli, will start Saturday from the outside of the third row —his worst start in years. He qualified at 172.612 miles per hour, compared with Peter Revson's pole speed of 178.696 m.p.h.

The Italian-born Andretti almost didn't make last year's race. He crashed one of the McNamara Fords in practice a few days before the first round of qualifying. Though burned severely about the face, he went to a backup car, a Hawk-Ford built by his former chief mechanic, Clint Brawner and qualified eighth in the order. He finished sixth.

The 31-year-old Andretti, who won two national driving titles before hooking up with Granatelli in 1969, brought the oil-additive king his first triumph at Indianapolis that year.

Ziegler Gets Lead In Memphis Classic

Memphis, Tenn. (AP) — Larry Ziegler matched the best round on the pro tour this year with a 62 and took the first-round lead in the $175,000 Danny Thomas Memphis Golf Classic Thursday.

The career-best effort by the big, hard-hitting blond gave him a two-stroke lead over the always dangerous Frank Beard. The hot-putting Beard needed only 26 strokes from the green on his way to a 64.

Lee Trevino and Chi Chi Rodriguez both had 66 on the 6,466-yard, par 70 Colonial Country Club course, one of the shortest layouts the pros play all year.

Deane Beman headed a group of four tied at 67. The others are Jim Colbert, Mike Reasor and Jerry Heard.

Gene Littler, winner of last week's Colonial National Invitation, topped a big group at 68.

While most of the tourists found the short, flat layout to their liking, Dave Hill had his troubles. Hill, winner of this tournament three of the last four years, could manage only a 71 and was far back in the pack.

Billy Casper, one of the pre-tournament favorites, had a 69, seven strokes off Ziegler's blistering pace. Pro golf's Big Three, Arnold Palmer Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player, are not competing.

The 30-year-old Ziegler, in his sixth year on the tour, had six birdies and an eagle three in the round that left him leading the pack in the chase for the $35,000 first prize.

Beard, who won the New Orleans Open a month ago and has collected about $74,000 this season had seven birdies and one bogey as he recorded 10 one-putt greens.

"I hadn't been putting well for the last couple of weeks," he said, "but I played in a pro-am Monday and did a lot of practicing. I think I found something."

ISU Selects McCullough As New Athletic Director

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Officials of Iowa State University here announced Thursday evening that the Athletic Council has chosen Lou McCullough, 46, to be ISU's new athletic director.

McCullough, former ISU assistant football coach and currently associate football coach at Ohio State University, succeeds Clay Stapleton, who left ISU to accept the top sports job at Florida State University.

In announcing McCullough's selection, Prof. Robert C. Fellinger, Athletic Council chairman, said, "Lou is a man of tremendous ability and drive. He meets all the requirements the council established when it began the search for a director."

Fellinger said the council was "enthusiastic" in recommending McCullough.

Both at Iowa State and Ohio State McCullough earned a reputation as an outstanding recruiter and coach. He and Stapleton had often coached together, at Iowa State from 1958-62, and McCullough and Stapleton were both assistant coaches on the football staff at Wofford College and the University of Wyoming prior to those years.

LOU MCCULLOUGH

When he learned of his selection, the new athletic director said, "I am extremely pleased to be coming back to Iowa State. I have a great deal of admiration for the people of Iowa and for the supporters of the Iowa State program.

"The athletic potential at Iowa State is greater now than it ever has been," he observed. "We have outstanding coaches in all sports, and that was an important factor in my decision."

Lively, Cornish Sister Team For Win

. . . AK FEATURE TAKEN BY THREE-YEAR-OLD FILLY

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Omaha — J. L. Lively and Cornish Sister should go in business together since they've spent so much time together.

Cornish Sister, who has been ridden by Lively in every race for her owners Hoss Inman and Bud Ogdon of Lamar, Colo., again found Lively's instructions to her liking Thursday at Ak-Sar-Ben.

Lively guided the 3-year-old filly to a one-length victory in the first running of the $10,950 Princess Stakes over Miss Spy Song and picked up her third triumph in six starts this year. But Ak-Sar-Ben's leading jockey knows Cornish Sister — almost as well as he knows Miss Spy Song.

"Cornish Sister beat her (Miss Spy Song) once last year at Denver" Lively said. "So I really wasn't worried about her."

Lively said he kept Cornish Sister off the pace until he asked for that something extra at the top of the stretch and Cornish Sister responded with a driving-win.

"I just laid off the pace and when the pack was close enough I ask her to move," he said, "I just let the others come to us."

In earning $6,022.50 for her owners, Cornish Sister returned $14.80, $5.40 and $3.20 while Miss Spy Song, in scoring her third straight second-place showing here, earning $2,080.50 for owners Rex Ekwall and Don Clugston and paid $3.40 and $2.60. Rulers Mistress, who has run at Churchill Downs, Hialeah Gulfstream Park this year, showed for $2.60.

Inman said Lively has ridden for him for three years and he seldom leaves any instructions with his rider.

"I never tell him anything about a race because it might come out differently and then we'll be in trouble," said Inman.

Inman said he and Fayette Farm bred the filly and then she was both sold and bought back at a Keenland sales auction and he and Ogdon have been more than satisfied with their investment which has earned $39,854.50.

Cornish Sister broke forth and then watched as Rulers Mistress, Miss Spy Song and Capetown struggled for the lead until the stretch when Cornish Sister skipped past the trio into first place. She toured the six furlongs in 1:11.

In other highlights, T. V. Smith moved into the trainers' lead passing Jack Van Berg by two points and Don Von Hemel by three points. Smith saddled Can-He-Scoot (winner of the eighth) while Van Berg was shut out and Von Hemel saddled Miss Spy Song and Lizabeth L. (third in the fourth).

British Win Walker Cup

©The New York Times

St. Andrews, Scotland — Britain has won the Walker Cup for the first time since 1938 and for only the second time in its 50-year history.

Amid scenes of wild excitement, the men in dark blue took six of the eight singles on Thursday afternoon to win 13 to 11 from the heavily favored American side.

Boyer Summoned To Club Showdown

Atlanta (AP) — Paul Richards, vice president of the Atlanta Braves, Thursday summoned his discontended third baseman, Clete Boyer, to a head-to-head meeting today, threatening to suspend the slick-fielding infielder if he wasn't in the Braves office by noon.

Boyer stepped off a flight from Montreal Thursday night and said, "This is the first time I went first class all year." He then showed reporters a copy of his telegram from Richards authorizing him to leave the club.

Torrid Brock, Cards Roll

By Associated Press

Lou Brock, a .424 hitter during a torrid batting tear, banged out three more hits and Chris Zachary pitched a two-hitter as the St. Louis Cardinals routed the Chicago Cubs, 10-0, Thursday night in major league baseball.

Brock now has 42 hits in his last 99 times at bat during the streak of 23 games. He is batting .374 on the season.

Boston defeated Washington, 6-2, Milwaukee downed Minnesota, 5-3; Detroit edged the New York Yankees, 4-3; Cleveland blasted Baltimore, 10-5; Pittsburgh whipped Cincinnati, 5-2 and Atlanta humbled Montreal, 4-1, in other games.

Ted Uhlaender drove in four runs to lead the Indians over the Orioles. Tom Kelley of the Braves pitched a four-hitter in turning back the Expos. Successive RBI singles by Al Kaline, Willie Horton and Bill Freehan in the sixth inning gave the Tigers the nod over the Yankees.

Homers by Roberto Clemente and Manny Sanguillen paced the Pirates over the Reds. Pitcher Gary Peters helped win his own game for the Red Sox by driving home two runs with a bases-loaded single.

An eighth inning triple by pinch-hitter Roberto Pena with the bases full accounted for Milwaukee's victory over the Twins.

Richie Allen delivered a two-run single and Bill Sudakis poked his third home run of the year to support Don Sutton's four-hit pitching as the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped the San Francisco Giants, 5-1, in a late west coast game.

Not Enough Money

Indianola, Miss. (AP) — Archie Manning's agent admits he's not an old hand at it, but he insists you don't have to be an expert to know the National Football League New Orleans Saints are not offering Manning enough money to play football.

Motives Different

Houston, Tex. (AP) — The National and American Basketball Associations head for their first on-the-court confrontation tonight in the Astrodome with each side apparently playing an all-star game for different reasons.

Several ABA players participating in the 7:30 p.m., CDT nationally televised game said they were playing merely to benefit charity and to get more exposure for their four-year-old league.

The NBA players indicated they are playing to show there can be competition between the two leagues without a merger.

Owners in both leagues have declined to sanction the game although their opposition has not been too vocal.

The NBA team will be coached by Bill Russell, the former Boston Celtic great, and headlined by Robertson and Lew Alcindor of the NBA champion Milwaukee Bucks.

Other NBA players include Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia, Dave DeBusschere of New York, John Havlicek of Boston, Elvin Hayes of San Diego, Nate Thurmond of San Francisco, Earl Monroe of Baltimore, Dave Bing of Detroit, Walt Frazier of New York and Lou Hudson of Atlanta.

Rick Barry of New York Roger Brown of Indiana, Willie Wise of Utah, Dan Issel of Kentucky, Zelma Beaty of Utah, Mel Daniels of Indiana, Charlie Scott of Virginia, Larry Jones of Florida, Bill Melchioni of New York, Steve Jones and Donny Freeman of Dallas, and John Brisker of Pittsburgh are the ABA players.

The Flyers general manager Keith Allen said Stasiuk has been asked to stay on with the team as a scout. The coach had one year remaining on his two-year contract.

Ragland's Homer Topples Omaha

Omaha, Neb. (AP) — Jim Ragland's inside-the-park homer in the ninth inning gave Denver a 3-2 American Association victory over Omaha before a crowd of 1,223 Thursday night.

With two out, Ragland drilled a Paul Splittorff offering toward centerfielder John Matias, who charged and the ball sailed over his head. The blast also scored pinch runner Norm McRae, who entered the game for Dick Nen after Nen's single.

Torrid Brock, Cards Roll

By Associated Press

Lou Brock, a .424 hitter during a torrid batting tear, banged out three more hits and Chris Zachary pitched a two-hitter as the St. Louis Cardinals routed the Chicago Cubs, 10-0, Thursday night in major league baseball.

Brock now has 42 hits in his last 99 times at bat during the streak of 23 games. He is batting .374 on the season.

Boston defeated Washington, 6-2, Milwaukee downed Minnesota, 5-3; Detroit edged the New York Yankees, 4-3; Cleveland blasted Baltimore, 10-5; Pittsburgh whipped Cincinnati, 5-2 and Atlanta humbled Montreal, 4-1, in other games.

Ted Uhlaender drove in four runs to lead the Indians over the Orioles. Tom Kelley of the Braves pitched a four-hitter in turning back the Expos. Successive RBI singles by Al Kaline, Willie Horton and Bill Freehan in the sixth inning gave the Tigers the nod over the Yankees.

Homers by Roberto Clemente and Manny Sanguillen paced the Pirates over the Reds. Pitcher Gary Peters helped win his own game for the Red Sox by driving home two runs with a bases-loaded single.

An eighth inning triple by pinch-hitter Roberto Pena with the bases full accounted for Milwaukee's victory over the Twins.

Richie Allen delivered a two-run single and Bill Sudakis poked his third home run of the year to support Don Sutton's four-hit pitching as the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped the San Francisco Giants, 5-1, in a late west coast game.

Motives Different

Houston, Tex. (AP) — The National and American Basketball Associations head for their first on-the-court confrontation tonight in the Astrodome with each side apparently playing an all-star game for different reasons.

Several ABA players participating in the 7:30 p.m., CDT nationally televised game said they were playing merely to benefit charity and to get more exposure for their four-year-old league.

The NBA players indicated they are playing to show there can be competition between the two leagues without a merger.

Owners in both leagues have declined to sanction the game although their opposition has not been too vocal.

The NBA team will be coached by Bill Russell, the former Boston Celtic great, and headlined by Robertson and Lew Alcindor of the NBA champion Milwaukee Bucks.

Other NBA players include Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia, Dave DeBusschere of New York, John Havlicek of Boston, Elvin Hayes of San Diego, Nate Thurmond of San Francisco, Earl Monroe of Baltimore, Dave Bing of Detroit, Walt Frazier of New York and Lou Hudson of Atlanta.

Rick Barry of New York Roger Brown of Indiana, Willie Wise of Utah, Dan Issel of Kentucky, Zelma Beaty of Utah, Mel Daniels of Indiana, Charlie Scott of Virginia, Larry Jones of Florida, Bill Melchioni of New York, Steve Jones and Donny Freeman of Dallas, and John Brisker of Pittsburgh are the ABA players.

O'Connell Signs Letter With CSU

Sidney (AP) — Tom O'Connell, 6-6 center on the Sidney High School basketball team, has signed a letter of intent to attend Colorado State University at Fort Collins, Sports Information Director Riley Hall, informed Sidney sources.

OConnell averaged 20 points per game during the past season and earned a berth on the North team for the 1971 all-star basketball game to be played in Lincoln in August.

He also quarterbacked the Sidney High football team and was an honor student.

NHL Flyers Fire Stasiuk As Coach

Philadelphia (AP) — The Philadelphia Flyers of the National Hockey League fired head coach Vic Stasiuk Friday.

The Flyers general manager Keith Allen said Stasiuk has been asked to stay on with the team as a scout. The coach had one year remaining on his two-year contract.

Ragland's Homer Topples Omaha

Omaha, Neb. (AP) — Jim Ragland's inside-the-park homer in the ninth inning gave Denver a 3-2 American Association victory over Omaha before a crowd of 1,223 Thursday night.

With two out, Ragland drilled a Paul Splittorff offering toward centerfielder John Matias, who charged and the ball sailed over his head. The blast also scored pinch runner Norm McRae, who entered the game for Dick Nen after Nen's single.

Boyer Summoned To Club Showdown

Atlanta (AP) — Paul Richards, vice president of the Atlanta Braves, Thursday summoned his discontended third baseman, Clete Boyer, to a head-to-head meeting today, threatening to suspend the slick-fielding infielder if he wasn't in the Braves office by noon.

Boyer stepped off a flight from Montreal Thursday night and said, "This is the first time I went first class all year." He then showed reporters a copy of his telegram from Richards authorizing him to leave the club.

Not Enough Money

Indianola, Miss. (AP) — Archie Manning's agent admits he's not an old hand at it, but he insists you don't have to be an expert to know the National Football League New Orleans Saints are not offering Manning enough money to play football.

Joe Garagiola has a sporting proposition for you this summer let Allis·Chalmers handle the work...you handle the fun!

There's yardpower and plenty of it in the complete lineup of lawn and garden tractors from Allis-Chalmers. All the power you need to handle any job . . . any season. You'll finish fast and neat and ready for fun.

Take our 14 hp model, the brawniest of lawn and garden tractors. It's big league from the quiet four-stroke engine and heavy duty transmission to the free floating non-scalp mower. Fully equipped with electric lift, electric power take off, lights, even a lighter. High floatation tires pamper your lawn and a foam padded seat pampers you.

So hurry into your Allis-Chalmers dealer and see his complete line of work saving tractors. From the husky little 6 hp model that's just right for smaller lots, through the big 14 hp tractor that can handle anything right up to stadiums. There are plenty of accessories to take on all your chores from spring 'til fall, and winter too. Now how's that for a sporting proposition?

You'll find your nearest Allis-Chalmers Outdoor Products dealer in the Yellow Pages under Lawn Mowers. Just tell him Joe sent you.

Unionizing Agreement With Governor Claimed

A union representative told a group of Lincoln Regional Center (IRC) employes Thursday that an agreement had been made with the governor's office for working out procedures under which a LRC local union can operate.

John Oliva, international representative of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes (AFSCME), AFL-CIO, spoke to LRC workers at afternoon and evening meetings in the Lincoln Labor Temple.

He told the employes from LRC, which formerly was called the Lincoln State Hospital, that AFSCME will grant a charter for the formation of LRC Local 601 as soon as the local is organized and officers are elected.

About 45 employes attended the evening session with Oliva. He met with some 12 workers during an afternoon session.

No Procedures Set

Oliva recalled that AFSCME had attempted to organize a LRC local union at the hospital more than a year ago, but had no success because the Tiemann administration would not agree to "set procedures to recognize state employes."

He said that although the Legislature passed a law in 1969 that said state employes could bargain for wages and working conditions, Tiemann's office did not set any procedures to help state employes take advantage of the law.

However, Oliva explained that AFSCME now is ready to organize the LRC local because of an agreement with Gov. J. James Exon's office "whereby we can negotiate for state employes."

Oliva said the union representatives would meet with the governor's office to work out mechanics for the union's procedures.

'Informal Understanding'

Norman Krivosha, legal assistant to Exon, said he had met with Oliva and there is "an informal understanding that they can get people to join the local."

Krivosha said the governor's office would discuss issues with any employe organization.

But he stressed that there have been no agreements made about the local becoming "an exclusive bargaining agent."

Purpose Explained

Oliva said the purpose of the meetings Thursday was to inform the approximately 400 workers at the center that a local is being set up and officers soon will be elected.

The union man, who was active in forming the Lincoln city employes Local 278, said he hoped as many LRC employes as possible would join the local.

He said the local union will be open to all LRC employes — including professionals and supervisory staff — and it will represent only members.

He noted that the state institutions in Hastings, Norfolk, Beatrice and Omaha have had local unions for years.

Barney To Head Southeast Health Unit

Chauncey Barney of Lincoln Thursday was elected president of the Southeast Nebraska Health Planning Council (SeNHPC) at the organization's annual meeting.

Other officers elected were Glen Merz, Falls City, vice president; Neil Tyner, Lincoln, treasurer and Jerry Woollen, Lincoln, secretary. Two nursing home proposals for Lincoln and Seward were submitted to the board during the meeting.

Action on the Lincoln Villa du Lac Nursing Home came with a resolution to be submitted to the State Health Department, in compliance with a decision made Wednesday by the Health Facilities Planning Committee, that a "certificate of need" is not recommended for this proposal and shall not be issued.

The proposed facility needed a "certificate of need" from the State Health Department in order to receive Federal Housing Administration nursing home mortgage insurance.

A proposal for the Heritage Rest Homes, Inc., Nursing Home to be located in Seward was not accepted because the applicant had not supplied sufficient information regarding the capital budget, the operating budget and management structure.

The board, however, did recognize the need for nursing home beds in Seward and in a second motion encouraged Heritage Rest Home, Inc., to submit with "post haste" a proposal to the Small Business Administration for financial feasibility in their endeavor. The board asked that the application be returned to the SeNHPC with the additional information once they have prepared it for the SBA.

Approval came from the board of directors for the proposed Lincoln General Hospital alcoholism treatment and rehabilitation center. The 22 bed unit will be patterned after a program in use at a Minneapolis hospital. This proposal will be the third area of alcoholism control in the city. Planned coordination between the three will eliminate and avoid duplication.

Former state senator Calista C. Hughes, director of the State Office of Comprehensive Health Planning, praised the group for their work in bringing about the health planning council. With the formation of the group in 1969 and the five-year operational planning grant coming from the U.S. Public Health Service and the state, many more areas throughout the state are now forming similar councils.

Awards were presented to retiring SeNHPC President Dale Siefkes for his work during the past year and one-half in the organization and to Joe R. Seacrest and J. H. Hopkins in Lancaster County and George Styskal in Butler County for their work related to the health planning council.

Clifton, N.J. (UPI) — The nation's utility company meter readers have found a way to protect themselves from a daily hazard, the family watchdog.

The meter readers are using their meter binders to ward off that nip in the pants, reports the American Loose Leaf division of Dictaphone Corporation. For that reason, the firm says, its meter binders are finished with a hard bakelite enamel.

Hsinhua Reports Austria, China Establish Ties

©The New York Times

Hong Kong — Austria and Communist China have agreed to the establishment of diplomatic relations, the Chinese press agency Hsinhua reported Thursday.

A joint communique signed Wednesday by representatives of the two governments in Bucharest, capital of Rumania, said the decision had been taken "in accordance with the principles of mutual respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity, noninterference in each other's internal affairs, equality and mutual benefit."

State To Get Weights And Measures Set

Nebraska will receive a new set of weights and measures from the U.S. Commerce Department in official ceremonies June 4, the State Agriculture Department said Thursday.

Gov. J. James Exon will accept the $85,000 worth of new instruments from Thomas M. Stabler, chief of weights and measures of the National Bureau of Standards.

The department said the new equipment, providing Nebraska "with the ultimate in a weights and measures program," will be housed in its new weights and measures laboratory, the former photography laboratory at the Lincoln Air Base.

Nebraska will become the 26th state to receive the new equipment under a federal program modernizing state weights and measures departments at the rate of about 10 states per year.

Nebraska's weights and measures division is part of its agricultural department.

Poll: Newspaper Editors Support Exon's NU Stand

A survey of Nebraska newspaper editors released Thursday by the state Democratic party show that most of the editors responding supported Gov. J. James Exon's budget recommendations for the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The survey was conducted by Celeste Wiseblood, an NU student intern at the party headquarters in Lincoln.

She sent out questionnaires to editors throughout the state and her results showed that of the 37% of those editors who replied, 44% supported Exon's recommendations while 36% opposed the governor.

She reported that she sent out 202 surveys and has received back 75.

Governor Signs Nebraska's New 'Model' Drug Bill

Gov. J. James Exon announced Thursday he has signed into law LB326, the "model" drug bill passed Wednesday by the Legislature.

The bill was prepared by the State Crime Commission, based on a model penal code drawn up by the 50 states and the federal government. It was sponsored by Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh. Neligh.

Under the law, jail sentences for those convicted of selling drugs are stiffened, while penalties for simple possession are generally lightened.

"Let the passage of LB326 be a warning to those who would push hard drugs," said Exon. "If the desire to reduce crime and maintain law and order is real, legislation such as this must be enacted."

Union Endorsed At VA Hospital

The American Federation of Government Employes, AFL-CIO, Local 2219, was selected as the exclusive bargaining agent Thursday in a secret ballot election conducted by the United States Labor Department for 35 staff nurses at the Lincoln VA Hospital.

The vote was 22 for union representation and four against, out of a total of 35 eligible votes. Local 2219 now represents 200 non-supervisory and non-professional employes at the hospital. With Omaha VA nurses organized in March, 1971, and the Lincoln VA nurses Thursday, a petition will be made later at the Grand Island VA Hospital for similar representation, Local 2219 President Gerald Egarty reported.

Dear Nebraskans:

Excuse brevity; again I pay for every line. For years, I have been pleading with Chancellors and Editors of the Star, Journal and World-Herald and others to foster efficiency and essentials in education and information, and special attention to this:

Education for Government And Citizenship is the most critical and most neglected problem in the U.S.A.

My pleas have been in vain because those VIPs have been and are arrogant and obstinate. Instead of pressing for efficiency and vital studies, they persist in polishing palaver for bigger budgets to meet wacky requirements of the BIG BUREAUCRACY at One Dupont Circle.

To solve our problems, we must have a Lincoln newspaper that will fairly and fully publicize the needs and the vagaries, ETC. in liberal arts and the graduate school. There is hope that the new owners of the World-Herald will become aware of the facts and potentials, and institute appropriate editorial action. Kiewit can do it. Until I pay again—THANKS.

Barney To Head Southeast Health Unit

Chauncey Barney of Lincoln Thursday was elected president of the Southeast Nebraska Health Planning Council (SeNHPC) at the organization's annual meeting.

Other officers elected were Glen Merz, Falls City, vice president; Neil Tyner, Lincoln, treasurer and Jerry Woollen, Lincoln, secretary. Two nursing home proposals for Lincoln and Seward were submitted to the board during the meeting.

Action on the Lincoln Villa du Lac Nursing Home came with a resolution to be submitted to the State Health Department, in compliance with a decision made Wednesday by the Health Facilities Planning Committee, that a "certificate of need" is not recommended for this proposal and shall not be issued.

The proposed facility needed a "certificate of need" from the State Health Department in order to receive Federal Housing Administration nursing home mortgage insurance.

A proposal for the Heritage Rest Homes, Inc., Nursing Home to be located in Seward was not accepted because the applicant had not supplied sufficient information regarding the capital budget, the operating budget and management structure.

The board, however, did recognize the need for nursing home beds in Seward and in a second motion encouraged Heritage Rest Home, Inc., to submit with "post haste" a proposal to the Small Business Administration for financial feasibility in their endeavor. The board asked that the application be returned to the SeNHPC with the additional information once they have prepared it for the SBA.

Approval came from the board of directors for the proposed Lincoln General Hospital alcoholism treatment and rehabilitation center. The 22 bed unit will be patterned after a program in use at a Minneapolis hospital. This proposal will be the third area of alcoholism control in the city. Planned coordination between the three will eliminate and avoid duplication.

Former state senator Calista C. Hughes, director of the State Office of Comprehensive Health Planning, praised the group for their work in bringing about the health planning council. With the formation of the group in 1969 and the five-year operational planning grant coming from the U.S. Public Health Service and the state, many more areas throughout the state are now forming similar councils.

Awards were presented to retiring SeNHPC President Dale Siefkes for his work during the past year and one-half in the organization and to Joe R. Seacrest and J. H. Hopkins in Lancaster County and George Styskal in Butler County for their work related to the health planning council.

Meter Readers Get Protection

Clifton, N.J. (UPI) — The nation's utility company meter readers have found a way to protect themselves from a daily hazard, the family watchdog.

The meter readers are using their meter binders to ward off that nip in the pants, reports the American Loose Leaf division of Dictaphone Corporation. For that reason, the firm says, its meter binders are finished with a hard bakelite enamel.

Hsinhua Reports Austria, China Establish Ties

©The New York Times

Hong Kong — Austria and Communist China have agreed to the establishment of diplomatic relations, the Chinese press agency Hsinhua reported Thursday.

A joint communique signed Wednesday by representatives of the two governments in Bucharest, capital of Rumania, said the decision had been taken "in accordance with the principles of mutual respect for sovereignty and territorial integrity, noninterference in each other's internal affairs, equality and mutual benefit."

State To Get Weights And Measures Set

Nebraska will receive a new set of weights and measures from the U.S. Commerce Department in official ceremonies June 4, the State Agriculture Department said Thursday.

Gov. J. James Exon will accept the $85,000 worth of new instruments from Thomas M. Stabler, chief of weights and measures of the National Bureau of Standards.

The department said the new equipment, providing Nebraska "with the ultimate in a weights and measures program," will be housed in its new weights and measures laboratory, the former photography laboratory at the Lincoln Air Base.

Nebraska will become the 26th state to receive the new equipment under a federal program modernizing state weights and measures departments at the rate of about 10 states per year.

Nebraska's weights and measures division is part of its agricultural department.

Poll: Newspaper Editors Support Exon's NU Stand

A survey of Nebraska newspaper editors released Thursday by the state Democratic party show that most of the editors responding supported Gov. J. James Exon's budget recommendations for the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

The survey was conducted by Celeste Wiseblood, an NU student intern at the party headquarters in Lincoln.

She sent out questionnaires to editors throughout the state and her results showed that of the 37% of those editors who replied, 44% supported Exon's recommendations while 36% opposed the governor.

She reported that she sent out 202 surveys and has received back 75.

Governor Signs Nebraska's New 'Model' Drug Bill

Gov. J. James Exon announced Thursday he has signed into law LB326, the "model" drug bill passed Wednesday by the Legislature.

The bill was prepared by the State Crime Commission, based on a model penal code drawn up by the 50 states and the federal government. It was sponsored by Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh. Neligh.

Under the law, jail sentences for those convicted of selling drugs are stiffened, while penalties for simple possession are generally lightened.

"Let the passage of LB326 be a warning to those who would push hard drugs," said Exon. "If the desire to reduce crime and maintain law and order is real, legislation such as this must be enacted."

Union Endorsed At VA Hospital

The American Federation of Government Employes, AFL-CIO, Local 2219, was selected as the exclusive bargaining agent Thursday in a secret ballot election conducted by the United States Labor Department for 35 staff nurses at the Lincoln VA Hospital.

The vote was 22 for union representation and four against, out of a total of 35 eligible votes. Local 2219 now represents 200 non-supervisory and non-professional employes at the hospital. With Omaha VA nurses organized in March, 1971, and the Lincoln VA nurses Thursday, a petition will be made later at the Grand Island VA Hospital for similar representation, Local 2219 President Gerald Egarty reported.

JOHN E. MEKOTA
CRETE, NEBRASKA 68333
May 28, 1971

Dear Nebraskans:

Excuse brevity; again I pay for every line. For years, I have been pleading with Chancellors and Editors of the Star, Journal and World-Herald and others to foster efficiency and essentials in education and information, and special attention to this:

Education for Government And Citizenship is the most critical and most neglected problem in the U.S.A.

My pleas have been in vain because those VIPs have been and are arrogant and obstinate. Instead of pressing for efficiency and vital studies, they persist in polishing palaver for bigger budgets to meet wacky requirements of the BIG BUREAUCRACY at One Dupont Circle.

To solve our problems, we must have a Lincoln newspaper that will fairly and fully publicize the needs and the vagaries, ETC. in liberal arts and the graduate school. There is hope that the new owners of the World-Herald will become aware of the facts and potentials, and institute appropriate editorial action. Kiewit can do it. Until I pay again—THANKS.

John E. Mekota

P.S. THE BUREAUCRACY must be busted!

Stock Prices Dip In Apathetic Trade

New York (AP) — Stock market prices drifted aimlessly through the day Thursday as prices dipped fractionally lower in apathetic trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks lost .63 to 905.78.

Big Board volume was 12.61 million shares compared with 13.55 million shares Wednesday.

Analysts said many investors were reluctant to take investment positions with the three-day weekend coming up. They also said many investors were concerned that further increases in interest rates could restrict the economic recovery.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks dropped .08 to 54.78.

There were 716 declines and 570 advances out of 1,658 issues traded on the Big Board. The market had 13 new highs and 67 new lows.

The Associated Press 60 stock average rose 0.6 to 317.5, with industrials off 0.2, rails up 2.2 and utilities off 1.0.

Oils, rubber issues, and electronics were up. Utilities and metals were off. Motors and aircrafts were unchanged. All other stock categories were mixed.

Volume leader on the Big Board was Kaiser Aluminum, off ¼ at 35. Other Big Board prices included Ling-Temco-Vought, off 1¾ at 14½; Mattel, off 2½ at 43¾; Telex, off ¾ at 16⅝; McGraw-Hill, off ¼ at 21¾; and Texaco up ⅛ at 35½.

American Stock Exchange prices dipped. The Amex price change index lost 0.04 to 25.63. Volume was 3.45 million shares, compared with 4.38 million Wednesday. There were 321 advances and 484 declines out of 1,083 issues traded.

Soybeans, Corn, Wheat Advance

Chicago (AP) — Wheat, corn and soybeans future advanced from 2 to 4 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday on buying stimulated largely by the weather.

Oats also closed on a fairly strong tone.

Soybeans came under early selling pressure, largely as profit-taking from the previous session. However, once the selling need had been satisfied new buying entered the pit. This was influenced mostly by the weather.

At the close, soybeans were 2 to 4 cents a bushel higher, July 3.11 5; wheat was 2½ to 3¾ higher, July 1.57¾; corn was ⅞ to 2 cents higher, July 1.49; and oats were unchanged to ⅝ higher, July 71⅞.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Significance Discussed Of Social Security Hike

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Buying Stimulus

With the 10% increase in June in old age and survivorship benefits under Social Security and a separate payment of retroactive increases from January through May to 26 million eligible recipients, the national economy will receive a short term stimulus to buying. Of more lasting significance is the fact that Social Security is taking a larger place in the financial plans of the ordinary citizen.

One reader was annoyed when a life insurance man, in visualizing his estate building goals, omitted from the figures the expected receipts from Social Security. One computation places the capitalized value of a worker's claim on Social Security by the end of this year at $144,810. This figure is based on the contingency that, if a breadwinner, with a growing young family, died or became disabled, his dependents could collect a maximum of $482.70 a month in survivorship benefits. The computation is based on a 4% annual return on the assumed capital.

In addition, after 65, there is help under Medicare for financing illness.

Since the system was initiated in 1937, the successive increases in benefits have represented an effort to offset inflation in the cost of living. In concept so-called social insurance is not envisaged to provide an abundant standard of living consisting of caviar and rare wines, but a mere foundation to be supplemented by private saving and investing.

Provides Start

Thus in the affairs of a self supporting person, Social Security represents at least a start toward fixed dollar investments and leaves the investor, seeking balance, free to use a substantial ratio of his discretionary savings in so-called growth stocks and inflation hedges, such as real estate and precious stones. In a sense therefore, Social Security is more directly in competition with insurance, annuities and dollar savings accounts than with shares in American industry and other inflation hedges.

Social Security is frankly a hedge against self reliance and individual responsibility. In order to avoid impairing the incentive system, such social benefits should not provide all the security desired, but merely a subsistence level as a starting point.

As contrasted with private voluntary insurance and annuities, Social Security is, in the nature of things, based on a variant of Robin Hood economics — taking from the rich for the benefit of the poor. Social Security as a transfer system is a leveller, and gives breaks to low income groups and late comers into the system.

Compulsory System

In order to be able to do this, its sponsors have in all countries insisted on making the system compulsory. Otherwise, sophisticated persons who were being short changed would, if they had the option, elect to shift to voluntary plans which treat all earned dollars on the same basis.

In the past 34 years of Social Security, new financial techniques have been developed. If redistribution were not involved, it would be practical for workers and their employers who contribute equally to payroll taxes to have the option to put the proceeds into voluntary pensions. In the case of the self employed under the Keogh Act, the Internal Revenue approves various eligible plans for tax deferrable self investment through insurance, specified bonds, eligible mutual funds, and other procedures.

As dollar benefits have increased, the government has tried to balance the outgo with two sources of increased payroll tax revenues — first through rate increases and, secondly, through raising the portion of earned income taxable for this purpose. At the beginning in 1937, the payroll tax rate on the worker was 1% of the first $3,000 a year earned. The rate has since risen in several stages. By 1967, the worker's rate was 4.4% on the first $6,600 of yearly earnings, including .5% earmarked for Medicare. This year the total rate on the worker is 5.2% of the first $7,800 and the employer always matches the employe's contribution. Under the present schedule, the rate will rise to 5.65% in 1973-75 and to 5.95% in 1980-86, and the portion of earned income subject to the payroll tax will rise to $9,000 on Jan. 1, 1972.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Third WE Contract Proposal Is Turned Down By Union

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Works of Western Electric Co. has made a third contract proposal to Local 1974 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW).

But the company reported that "the union chose not accept this offer and bargaining is continuing."

The union's three-year contract expired May 10, with 5,400 IBEW Western Electric employes here continuing to work under the old contract during negotiations.

Firm spokesman, Dick Damrow said the new offer provides for increases ranging from 30 to 65 cents per hour, depending upon job grade, in the first year. Further increases ranging from 8 to 16 cents per hour the second year and 8 to 17 cents per hour the third year of the contract are provided for. "These raises would be in addition to the previously offered cost of living formula," Damrow said.

The company's second offer had offered first year increases of 27 to 49 cents per hour and the first offer was for raises of 23 to 45 cents per hour in the first year.

V. D. Hainline, Businessman At G.I., Dies

Grand Island (AP)—Funeral services will be held at the First Presbyterian Church in Grand Island at 1:30 p.m. Friday for Verne D. Hainline, 79, a prominent Grand Island businessman who died Wednesday night.

Mr. Hainline, a native of La Monte, Mo., came to Grand Island in 1911 and started driving a delivery wagon for a laundry. Two years later he started his own delivery service which he converted to trucks in the 1920s.

Subsequently he started a cab company, which still exists, operated a bulk oil plant, two automobile agencies and finally a filling station and restaurant complex which the family still owns.

In 1931 he became interested in flying and carried passengers on a charter plane for a time. He subsequently acquired a large horse and cattle ranch near Cotesfield. He retired in 1965.

Survivors include his wife, the former Marie Jensen, and a daughter, Mrs. Elsie Huwaldt of Grand Island.

Church Awarded $55,000 In Suit Against Hamar

Dakota City (AP) — An "agreement of parties" has brought an award of $55,000 to James Church of Madison, Neb., for permanent disability sustained in a 1967 construction accident at the building site of the Schuyler Packing Co.

A trial began Monday in Dakota County District Court and the agreement was announced Wednesday. Church had brought suit for $250,000 against Hamar Construction Co. of South Sioux City, one of the contractors involved in work at the site.

Church, 28, at the time, was a laborer at the construction site and was employed by Schuyler Packing Co. He claimed he fell some 25 to 30 feet when he was knocked off a steel beam by a construction crane operated by a Hamar employe.

U.S.S. Hazard Is On Its Way To Omaha Park

Omaha (AP) — The retired Navy minesweeper U.S.S. Hazard will be tied up at Omaha's Dodge Park June 18 for welcoming ceremonies. An inlet will be dug in the park as a permanent docking area for the ship which is being towed up the Mississippi and Missouri rivers and will be used as a World War II museum.

The craft is moving about 100 miles a day up the Mississippi and is expected to reach St. Louis about June 6, officials said.

Chicago (AP) — Wheat, corn and soybeans future advanced from 2 to 4 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday on buying stimulated largely by the weather.

Oats also closed on a fairly strong tone.

Soybeans came under early selling pressure, largely as profit-taking from the previous session. However, once the selling need had been satisfied new buying entered the pit. This was influenced mostly by the weather.

At the close, soybeans were 2 to 4 cents a bushel higher, July 3.11 5; wheat was 2½ to 3¾ higher, July 1.57¾; corn was ⅞ to 2 cents higher, July 1.49; and oats were unchanged to ⅝ higher, July 71⅞.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Significance Discussed Of Social Security Hike

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Buying Stimulus

With the 10% increase in June in old age and survivorship benefits under Social Security and a separate payment of retroactive increases from January through May to 26 million eligible recipients, the national economy will receive a short term stimulus to buying. Of more lasting significance is the fact that Social Security is taking a larger place in the financial plans of the ordinary citizen.

One reader was annoyed when a life insurance man, in visualizing his estate building goals, omitted from the figures the expected receipts from Social Security. One computation places the capitalized value of a worker's claim on Social Security by the end of this year at $144,810. This figure is based on the contingency that, if a breadwinner, with a growing young family, died or became disabled, his dependents could collect a maximum of $482.70 a month in survivorship benefits. The computation is based on a 4% annual return on the assumed capital.

In addition, after 65, there is help under Medicare for financing illness.

Since the system was initiated in 1937, the successive increases in benefits have represented an effort to offset inflation in the cost of living. In concept so-called social insurance is not envisaged to provide an abundant standard of living consisting of caviar and rare wines, but a mere foundation to be supplemented by private saving and investing.

Provides Start

Thus in the affairs of a self supporting person, Social Security represents at least a start toward fixed dollar investments and leaves the investor, seeking balance, free to use a substantial ratio of his discretionary savings in so-called growth stocks and inflation hedges, such as real estate and precious stones. In a sense therefore, Social Security is more directly in competition with insurance, annuities and dollar savings accounts than with shares in American industry and other inflation hedges.

Social Security is frankly a hedge against self reliance and individual responsibility. In order to avoid impairing the incentive system, such social benefits should not provide all the security desired, but merely a subsistence level as a starting point.

As contrasted with private voluntary insurance and annuities, Social Security is, in the nature of things, based on a variant of Robin Hood economics — taking from the rich for the benefit of the poor. Social Security as a transfer system is a leveller, and gives breaks to low income groups and late comers into the system.

Compulsory System

In order to be able to do this, its sponsors have in all countries insisted on making the system compulsory. Otherwise, sophisticated persons who were being short changed would, if they had the option, elect to shift to voluntary plans which treat all earned dollars on the same basis.

In the past 34 years of Social Security, new financial techniques have been developed. If redistribution were not involved, it would be practical for workers and their employers who contribute equally to payroll taxes to have the option to put the proceeds into voluntary pensions. In the case of the self employed under the Keogh Act, the Internal Revenue approves various eligible plans for tax deferrable self investment through insurance, specified bonds, eligible mutual funds, and other procedures.

As dollar benefits have increased, the government has tried to balance the outgo with two sources of increased payroll tax revenues — first through rate increases and, secondly, through raising the portion of earned income taxable for this purpose. At the beginning in 1937, the payroll tax rate on the worker was 1% of the first $3,000 a year earned. The rate has since risen in several stages. By 1967, the worker's rate was 4.4% on the first $6,600 of yearly earnings, including .5% earmarked for Medicare. This year the total rate on the worker is 5.2% of the first $7,800 and the employer always matches the employe's contribution. Under the present schedule, the rate will rise to 5.65% in 1973-75 and to 5.95% in 1980-86, and the portion of earned income subject to the payroll tax will rise to $9,000 on Jan. 1, 1972.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self addressed envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Third WE Contract Proposal Is Turned Down By Union

Omaha (AP) — The Omaha Works of Western Electric Co. has made a third contract proposal to Local 1974 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW).

But the company reported that "the union chose not accept this offer and bargaining is continuing."

The union's three-year contract expired May 10, with 5,400 IBEW Western Electric employes here continuing to work under the old contract during negotiations.

Firm spokesman, Dick Damrow said the new offer provides for increases ranging from 30 to 65 cents per hour, depending upon job grade, in the first year. Further increases ranging from 8 to 16 cents per hour the second year and 8 to 17 cents per hour the third year of the contract are provided for. "These raises would be in addition to the previously offered cost of living formula," Damrow said.

The company's second offer had offered first year increases of 27 to 49 cents per hour and the first offer was for raises of 23 to 45 cents per hour in the first year.

V. D. Hainline, Businessman At G.I., Dies

Grand Island (AP)—Funeral services will be held at the First Presbyterian Church in Grand Island at 1:30 p.m. Friday for Verne D. Hainline, 79, a prominent Grand Island businessman who died Wednesday night.

Mr. Hainline, a native of La Monte, Mo., came to Grand Island in 1911 and started driving a delivery wagon for a laundry. Two years later he started his own delivery service which he converted to trucks in the 1920s.

Subsequently he started a cab company, which still exists, operated a bulk oil plant, two automobile agencies and finally a filling station and restaurant complex which the family still owns.

In 1931 he became interested in flying and carried passengers on a charter plane for a time. He subsequently acquired a large horse and cattle ranch near Cotesfield. He retired in 1965.

Survivors include his wife, the former Marie Jensen, and a daughter, Mrs. Elsie Huwaldt of Grand Island.

Church Awarded $55,000 In Suit Against Hamar

Dakota City (AP) — An "agreement of parties" has brought an award of $55,000 to James Church of Madison, Neb., for permanent disability sustained in a 1967 construction accident at the building site of the Schuyler Packing Co.

A trial began Monday in Dakota County District Court and the agreement was announced Wednesday. Church had brought suit for $250,000 against Hamar Construction Co. of South Sioux City, one of the contractors involved in work at the site.

Church, 28, at the time, was a laborer at the construction site and was employed by Schuyler Packing Co. He claimed he fell some 25 to 30 feet when he was knocked off a steel beam by a construction crane operated by a Hamar employe.

U.S.S. Hazard Is On Its Way To Omaha Park

Omaha (AP) — The retired Navy minesweeper U.S.S. Hazard will be tied up at Omaha's Dodge Park June 18 for welcoming ceremonies. An inlet will be dug in the park as a permanent docking area for the ship which is being towed up the Mississippi and Missouri rivers and will be used as a World War II museum.

The craft is moving about 100 miles a day up the Mississippi and is expected to reach St. Louis about June 6, officials said.

Easy Availability Of Heroin Called A Troop Danger

Washington (UPI) — A member of a congressional study team warned Thursday that 'thousands of junkie Johnnies will come marching home hooked on heroin" unless the drug's easy availability is eliminated in Vietnam.

Reps. Robert Steele, R-Conn., and Morgan Murphy, D-Ill., who studied the drug problem on a 21-day, eight-nation tour, told a news conference that up to 40,000 GIs — or about 15% of the troops in Vietnam — are already heroin addicts.

The two, whose trip was sponsored by the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said if the heroin problem cannot be solved soon, possibly within two months, American troops should be brought home from Vietnam.

8.2 Million Cars Made

Washington — U.S. passenger-car production was 8.2 million last year, compared with 8.8 million in 1968 and the decade's high of 9.3 million in 1965. Domestic truck production was a record 1.96 million last year, up 50,000 over 1968.

Easy Availability Of Heroin Called A Troop Danger

Washington (UPI) — A member of a congressional study team warned Thursday that 'thousands of junkie Johnnies will come marching home hooked on heroin" unless the drug's easy availability is eliminated in Vietnam.

Reps. Robert Steele, R-Conn., and Morgan Murphy, D-Ill., who studied the drug problem on a 21-day, eight-nation tour, told a news conference that up to 40,000 GIs — or about 15% of the troops in Vietnam — are already heroin addicts.

The two, whose trip was sponsored by the House Foreign Affairs Committee, said if the heroin problem cannot be solved soon, possibly within two months, American troops should be brought home from Vietnam.
